HOWARD LEADING WALTON

County Votes Heavy

Howard Increases His Early Lead; Pine Runs Away In G. O. P Race

Fred Capshaw Leading Corporation.. Commission.. Race.. on Latest Returns

(Oklahoma City, August 6, 4 a. m. By the Associated Press)

E. B. Howard of Tulsa, now congressman from the first district, throughout the night steadily increased his lead over Oklahoma's deposed governor, J. C. Walton until this morning he was ahead of his opponent by nearly 4000 votes.

Beginning with the earliest precincts reported Wrightsman took the lead until about 275 boxes had turned in their totals. Then J. C. Walton stepped into the lead and held a slight margin for a time over Howard, who climbed back neck and neck with the leader.

The race between the two, with Wrightsman and Gore also running an even race for third and Freeling a poor fifth, continued until about 400 precincts had reported when Howard took a lead of 400. When the next total was reported the lead had dropped to 250 but at midnight Howard's supporters had filled in to bring his total to 800 over that of Walton. The other candidates plodding along with slowly rising totals but never threatened after Walton first got the lead.

At four o'clock this morning, the latest total that could be secured, the vote stood in 1137 precincts out of 2996: Howard 37,482; Walton 33,814; Freeling 6,748; Wrightsman 22,793; Gore 20,722.

Pine in Hearty Lead.

In the Republican senatorial race Pine early drew away from his closest opponents, Scott and Lorton and through the night steadily gained a larger margin for the nomination. At four o'clock this morning his vote stood; 426 precincts out of 2996; Pine 14,171; Lorton 6,333; and Scott 3,888.

In several of the eight congressional districts the incumbents who were running for reelection had good leads over their opponents. In the first district, now represented by E. B. Howard, Wayne Bayliss of Claremore was leading S. J. Montgomery for the Democratic nomination.

In the eighth district Garber has a heavy lead over Manuel Herrick.

Fletcher Riley of Lawton was leading John T. Johnson for the democratic nomination for supreme court justice in the ninth district. Charles W. Mason was leading for supreme court nomination in the first district, and Neil C. McNeill, present justice, was setting the pace for the democratic nomination in the sixth.

In the race for corporation commissioner Fred Capshaw, former University of Oklahoma athlete and popular student, has a good lead for the Democratic nomination. R. B. Quinn is running ahead in the Republican campaign for the same position.

McKEOWN SWEEPS DISTRICT

Congressman Tom D. McKeown has been nominated by approximately 14,000 votes, according to the claims of his managers. His headquarters here announce that he carried every county in the district with the probable exception of Johnston. He has carried Pottawatomie by about 1,000 votes. Pontotoc county will give him in the neighborhood of 400 plurality, according to the estimates of his headquarters.

In Creek county, the home of Cheatham, McKeown is running ahead of both the others combined. Early in the night 14 precincts of 942 in Hughes county reported 842 for McKeown and 653 for Hendon.

Sixteen Creek county precincts gave McKeown 838 and Hendon 435. The city of Shawnee gave McKeown 340 plurality over Hendon and 7 boxes in rural precincts gave McKeown a lead of 134.

Reports from Oklahoma county indicate that McKeown will carry it by 800 or more.

Tishomingo gave McKeown 258 over Hendon. McKeown leading on reports from 13 precincts out of 27. Coal county reports more than

Tom D. McKeown

500 plurality for McKeown and Sen. Stroud, Lincoln county, reports 193 for McKeown and 18 for Hendon.

News Party

Long through the early hours of the night and then a short session after the zero hours of 12 ended the News Election Party last night at the office on North Broadway where county and state elections returns were announced.

The crowd massed the street within a half block of the announcer during the earlier hours of the evening but even the intensity of the county and state races could not hold them through the long hours of endless election tabulation.

Every candidate seemed to have staunch support in the crowd that made up the News party last night. The announcement of an increase in the standing of any candidate proved sufficient to bring out a yell from the audience.

WIMBISH CLAIMING LEAD OVER JUDICIAL DISTRICT

Robert Wimbish, judging from manager reports from the judicial district, believes he has been nominated as Democratic nominee for Justice of the Supreme Court. He says he carried Coal county by about 600, and will go out of Pontotoc with a substantial lead. His information also is that he has carried Pottawatomie and possibly other counties.

Plans Under Way For First Aerial Meet at Bartlesville

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Aug. 5.—Preparations are under way here for the first air meet ever held in this city in which prizes will be awarded to fliers for demonstrations and a definite schedule of races and contests will be carried out under regulations of the National Aeronautic association, governing body for aerial meets in this country.

Army planes will be sought from Kelly Field, Texas, Brooks Field, Texas, Post Field, Okla., Richard Field, Kansas City and Fr. Riley, Kans. It is expected that Martin bombers, DeHavilland attack machines, Thomas Morse MB-3 pursuit and other type military planes will participate. The meet will be held September 2.

In addition a number of commercial aviators from many parts of Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas will be invited. More than $3,000 in prizes will be offered.

More than one-half of all the bank clearings in the United States take place in New York City.

Some of Chicago's richly furnished elevated cars cost $22,000 each.

HALF MILLION VOTES MAY BE CAST TODAY

Both Major Parties Expected To Poll Full Strength; Many in Races

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 5.—Oklahoma's electorate will establish a new vote-casting record at the state primary today it is generally believed. Election officials predict the democratic ticket will receive more than 300,000 votes and the republican candidates will poll approximately 250,000. Polls throughout the state will open at 7 a. m. in the country districts and 6 a. m. in the cities. All close at 7 p. m.

The race for the democratic nomination for the United States senate carries the greatest interest and chief actor in that contest is John Calloway Walton, ousted governor, who is believed to be a leading candidate. For the past several months Walton has toured the state on speaking campaigns and his managers claim more than 400,000 persons heard him and that he will receive 150,000 votes today. Although he has touched lightly upon economic questions and his record as governor, Walton's chief weapon has been his attack on the Ku Klux Klan. The Klan and anti-klan contest in every race and in every section of the state has overshadowed all other issues.

The republican race is no less intensive of less spectacular. W. R. Pine, Okmulgee, who early entered the race is being opposed by Eugene Lorton, Tulsa publisher, Hugh Scott, superintendent of the Muskogee veterans hospital, B. G. Bingham and C. B. Leedy, Arnett, state senator. Lorton has waged a campaign against the Klan. Pine is said to be the klan candidate, and on the eve of the election was endorsed by the Oklahoma City klan.

Nominees for eight Congressional places will be elected as well as electors for the republican, democratic, farm-labor and socialist parties.

In the state race, the fight for the corporation commission nomination has aroused the most interest. Each of the major parties has 13 candidates. Joe B. Cobb, member of the commission, is seeking nomination, while O. A. Brewer, former member of the board of agriculture, is one of his opponents. Six of the nine districts will name supreme court candidates. The following democratic incumbents are candidates: First, C. W. Mason, Walton, appointee; sixth, Vice Chief

DEAN IN LEAD; WALKER HITS HIGH MARGIN; FRANKLIN NOW LEADING IN COUNTY RETURNS

Incomplete Returns From Over County Indicate Change in Many Offices; Brydia is Heavy Loser to Strickland

A hasty tabulation of about 25 of the 48 boxes of the county, including Ada complete was made by the News this morning and the totals are approximately as given below. The following boxes are not included in the figures: Ahlso, Capitol Hill, Center, Conway, Canyon Springs, Daggs-Price, Dolberg, state ticket of Francis, Hart, Jesse, Lanham, Lawrence, Lightning Ridge, Lula, Maxwell, Pickett, Rocky Chapel, state ticket of East and West Roff, Stonewall, Steedman, Sunshine, Union Valley, Vanoss, Wilson. Some of these had been received by the County election board but lack of time made it impossible to tabulate them for this issue.

For the senate Walton was far in the lead. The indications were that his plurality would be considerably increased by full returns. His vote was 1,422 to 988 for Howard, his nearest opponent. Howard's heaviest vote was in Ada.

In the congressional race Tom D. McKeown was leading, but later returns may cut his vote somewhat. His vote so far tabulated was 1,936. Hendon received 1,284. The vote of Pratt and Cheatham was negligible.

In the race for supreme court justice Wimbish had 1,290; Clark, his nearest competitor had 684.

For representative Brydia had 634, Thompson 1,099 and Strickland 1,292.

The county races indicate the nomination of Dean for county attorney, Walker for sheriff, Franklin for court clerk, Peck for county clerk, Chamberlain for treasurer, Byrd for tax assessor, Owen for county weigher and Heflin for county superintendent.

For county commissioner Stephens was in the lead on the face of the above returns and from figures he had received at other places not included in the above, he expressed confidence in his election. The race between Laseman and Jones in the second district was close but at 1 o'clock this morning Jones said he was certain of election.

The figures for county attorney were Dean 1,677; Chaney 1,485.

For sheriff Walker had 1,764 and Lillard 1,405.

For court clerk Franklin had 1,909 and Denton 1,246.

For county clerk Erwin had 1,646 and Peck 1,530.

For county treasurer Westbrook had 1,559 and Chamberlain 1,599.

For tax assessor Heard had 1,687 and Byrd 1,426.

For county superintendent Floyd 1,401; Britt 832; Heflin 1,379.

County weigher: Ward 1,022; Neal 232; Owen 930.

The above figures were taken partly from the returns to the county election board, some were brought in and some phoned in, but it is probable that only minor errors will be found when carefully tabulated.

Justice Neil McNeill, ninth, Chief Justice John J. Johnson.

One member of the criminal court of appeal will be named. Chief Justice Smith C. Matson is seeking the democratic nomination. A. A. Kelly of Madill has no opposition on the republican ticket.

Nominees for all the places in the house, 150, of the state legislature and half of the senate seats—22—will be filled. Counties name complete tickets.

RUSH SPRINGS, Okla., Aug. 4.—More than 400 ears of watermelons will be shipped from Grady county this year, growers believe. Already more than 100 cars have been sent from here, with scarcely a fourth of the crop on the market.

Labor Silent on Defense Day Row Over United States

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 5.—Denouncing vehemently both militarism and pacifism, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor today refused to become involved in the national Defense Day controversy.

The attitude of the council towards national observance of the day will be one of strict neutrality. It is, enough, however, that "Defense Day" is a matter of law and that most laboring men feel that the military establishment may participate in the exercises.

ALDERSON LOWERS GOLF COURSE RECORD

Old Man Par, jinx of the local golf course who has successfully evaded capture for the past three years, got the scare of his long life last Sunday afternoon, when Paul E. Alderson missed a put for this 24th and course par stroke and had to take a 5 on the 24th hole of the local course for a 35, one above par.

Alderson has been consistent in setting records for local golfers to shoot at. His course record of 33 made last summer was tied but never beaten until within the last two weeks when Roy L. Givens shaved a stroke off of that.

A score of 35 is remarkable on the local course. With plenty of trouble to be overcome on every hole it means the brand of golf one seldom sees outside of championship competition. Seven of the holes are 4 par, the other two are 3 par. Everyone of them calls for the best golfing skill, not so much in distance as in skill of execution of every shot. The 4th hole is the only one on the course where distance presents any great hazard.

Alderson's new course record may stand the gaff of the summer's play, but every member of the club has a dream of a perfect par before the end of the season and some one of them may turn in a card to verify that dream if interest in the play continues to increase.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

IS NOT THIS THE FAST that I have chosen? to loose the bands of wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye break every yoke?—Isiah 58:6.

A WOMAN GOVERNOR?

Mrs. Walter Ferguson, one of the best known and most popular women writers in Oklahoma, is of the opinion that a woman governor for Texas might not be so bad after all—provided she makes her husband keep his hands off. In the column in the Oklahoma City News she expresses herself thus:

"It looks as if Texas might have a woman governor. Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, wife of former impeached chief executive, has polled a lot of votes in the first primary and has a good chance for the Democratic nomination in the run-off.

"We hope that, if Mrs. Ferguson gets in, she will not let her husband handle the reins of government, but will take a hand at the job herself.

"At any rate, if she is elected, it will be a fine chance for us to find out whether the women will make any worse governors than the men.

"People are wildly asking each other whether Mrs. Ferguson is competent to govern Texas.

"Well, the chances are she isn't, but she probably is just as competent as many of the men who run for office, both in Texas and elsewhere.

"We have noticed that the men always talk a lot about statecraft and competency while they are running, but do not shine at either when they get in.

"And if Mrs. Ferguson should rule on her own initiative and not take too much dictation from her husband, who claims to know a lot about the business, she might be released from the political web which so entangles the men who serve the people that they can't see any issue without looking cross-eyed.

"And then some other person remarks, 'Oh, well, of course if she gets in, somebody else will be the real governor. Women do not know enough to do these things, and will have to depend upon certain groups of men to advise them.'

Well, show us a governor who does not have his political bosses. They all claim to be guided only by their conscience, but everybody with a grain of sense or a bit of political insight knows better.

"There is always some power behind the throne, no matter who sits in the chair, and so long as that is the case, the women might just as well take the seat of honor now and then.

"The time is past when we need experienced political wizards in any office. We need exactly the opposite.

"If Texas gets a woman for governor she may be doing very well for herself, for the record in nearly every state goes to show that these guys who are so experienced in statesmanship generally work dire havoc on the taxpayers."

The writer of a sketch of the life of Charles F. Murphy, late leader of Tammany, describes him as a man who kept his own counsel. Murphy never talked unless it was necessary. No one knew what his plans were and whether won or lost a fight no one ever got a word out of him. Such a man did not offer many vulnerable points to his enemies, hence he remained in power until the last day of his life and generally won any fight he directed. No matter what others said about him Murphrey took no notice of it.

Abuse of others never gets a man very far. It always reacts in time on the one indulging in it. The majority of people believe in fair play and their sympathy is with the under dog in a fight. The man who can offer no better recommendation of himself than to abuse others is not going to get very far when the people wake up to his real character and motives.

Papers from every section of the state are a unit in declaring that a record breaking vote will be polled in today's primary, the total possible reaching 300,000. However, no one displays much confidence in predicting the outcome. Never before has there been such a general split up and so much uncertainty in both parties as now exists. Only the counting of the ballots will tell the story.

We consider the coming of the pipe line one of the most promising things we have received in some time. One good feature about it too is the fact that no bonus or free sites are asked. The company is simply making the investment, and our citizens will profit from it. It will add several hundred thousand dollars to the taxable valuations and will make a ready market for all the oil produced here.

The radio is a wonderful invention, permitting thoughts to be flashed across the continent and the world. We know of only one thing that travels faster, and that is a scandal story.

Personal Grievances

(Eufaula Journal)
Many people would be surprised to know how far little personal antagonisms and grievances interfere with community progress. Civic advance is principally accomplished through organizations. But a lot of people won't work through such organizations, or will give little or no help in public enterprises, because of such personal feelings.

They do not like some trait of the persons they are asked to work with, or of some individual who holds a leading position in the organization. The heads of an organization may think that they have named a committee of members who will do able work on some undertaking. Yet it may be that some personal friction exists between these people, as a result of which they will not work with each other. The whole task they were asked to perform may suffer or not be done on this account. People will occasionally withdraw from organizations because they can not put up with the personality of some officer or officers.

Some years ago a certain clergyman was criticized by some of his parishioners because he wore red stockings. He preached admirable sermons. But the folks whose eyes were on his feet could not lift up their spirits to get the message that came from his head.

It is amazing how easily some folks will get offended. They twist things intended perfectly innocently into some distorted meaning, they brood over the remark, and think their work is unappreciated, and they quit.

Years ago, when people lived narrower lives, such sensitive feelings might be excused. But today, with our wider interests, the many opportunities for self improvement and enjoyment, people ought to get their minds off these little thoughts.

Surplus Gold.

(New York Times)

One of the New York banks, in its review of the business situation last week, called attention to the great proportion of the world's total supply of gold which is now held in the United States. The amount has been steadily piling up and is now placed by the Mechanics and Metals National Bank at $4,500,000,000 as compared with something less than $3,000,000,000 three years ago. The rest of the civilized nations have together no larger a sum of gold than is to be found in this country alone. It is not something which our bankers and merchants, our manufacturers and importers, have made special efforts to secure. Simply as a result of economic forces set in motion by the World war, gold has flowed in upon America as in a veritable stream of Paeonius.

The significant thing is that our most skilled and sober financiers are not gloating over this unexampled heap of golden treasure. They view it rather as a source of certain anxieties. In it they see a possible danger to our own system of currency and credit. The great gold holdings in the banks are a constant temptation to inflation and speculation. This is a peril against which the authorities of the Federal Reserve Bank have to be constantly on their guard. A lax and lavish use of credit, made technically possible by the huge reserve of gold might indeed lead to an immense business expansion, but the outcome of it would surely be a disastrous crashing to earth of the speculative balloon. Yet something must be done with the gold. It cannot be left indefinitely idle in the vaults. Americans are not misers to delight in merely brooding over their amassed gold, and handling it to make sure of its existence. They know that its real value is in safeguarded use, and for such employment of it they are looking about today more eagerly than ever before.

gold can be utilized in our own supply of currency. Bank notes are retired and gold certificates put out in their place. But this can reduce the excess only in a slight degree. For the full employment of the gold which we have beyond our own immediate needs we must, as the bank referred to insists, look abroad. We must be prepared to make use of our surplus gold not only in subscribing to the forth-coming German loan, but in greatly extending our foreign investments of all kinds. Otherwise the gold will remain on our hands as both a drug and a danger.

Thus is the ancient process reversed. Instead of scouring the world in the search for gold, we are in the position of asking the rest of the world to help us make safe and profitable use of the gold which we already possess. It is like carrying the Golden Fleece to market instead of going on a long and arduous quest of it.

RUSSIA UNABLE TO SUPPLY DEMAND FOR SMALL COINS

LENINGRAD.—With the introduction of new metal currency in Russia, the Soviet government is experiencing great difficulty in coining sufficient money in small denominations to meet the public demand, and is turning to the United States for additional minting machinery. It has also placed an order with the British Royal Mint in London for the manufacture of 40,000,000 half-ruble silver pieces. These half-ruble silver pieces have a value of 25 cents and consist of nine parts of silver and one of copper.

While silver coins of 10 kopeks, 15 kopeks and 20 kopeks have been in circulation for some time, no copper money has yet been minted, as the state-controlled factories, to which the government awarded a large contract of minting copper pieces, has failed to produce sufficient coins to meet the demands of the Soviet republic.

AIRPLANE SPEED OF 1,200 MILES AN HOUR PREDICTED

(By the Associated Press)

STOCKHOLM.—Flights between Europe and America in two hours at an altitude of 10 miles and with 2,000 horsepower motors, are forecast by S. Lindequist, a well known Swedish airplane contractor, in a statement published by a leading Stockholm paper.

One of the greatest aims in aviation in the immediate future should be to cut down the flying time between continents says Mr. Lindequist and this probably can be done by flying at extremely high altitudes. The effect of gravitation decreases with the increase in altitude, and it has been estimated he says, that a plane which has a speed of 100 miles an hour near the surface of the earth can attain a speed of 1,200 miles an hour at an altitude of about 10 miles.

At such a height the rarity of the atmosphere would constitute a disadvantage both to the ordinary motor and the ordinary propeller. But this difficulty can be overcome declares Mr. Lindequist, by using a propeller with adjustable blades, so that the pitch of the blades could be altered with the density of the air, and by using special compensators for the decrease in barometric pressure at high altitudes. Such a motor would probably have to develop about 2,000 horsepower. Mr. Lindequist declares that the problems of the adjusted propeller and aerial compression motor can be solved.

Bridging the Needs of Adians

The little Want Ads which make up the Classified Advertising Section of The News can be reckoned as a mighty structure which spans the gap between seller and buyer and over which Ada travels every day.

Those who have sales messages to broadcast look upon this "bridge" as the logical way to reach the prospective buyer. A young man seeks a better position; a matron wishes to dispose of some discarded furniture; the family decides that a new car is needed and Dad must find a purchaser for the old one. In each such case The News Classified Advertising Section serves as the connecting medium.

Similarly, this structure is in constant daily use by those who are in the market for some commodity or service. The seeker for reliable household or office help; the man or woman who desires to purchase a building site; the young person who wishes to find a competent instructor—all these, when they travel over the News Want Ad Bridge (by reading the timely listings), reach the Land of Fulfillment.

Whatever it is you wish to sell; whatever it may be you want to buy—it will prove profitable to travel the News Classified way. Read and use regularly the

CONFINED TO BED

Birmingham Lady Took Cardui
for Relief of Change of Life
Troubles and Says It Helped Her "So Much."

Birmingham, Ala.—"I first took Cardui for that tired, worn-out feeling that comes from being dreadfully run-down," says Mrs. Catherine E. Smith, of 2106 Stout Street. "Twenty-five years ago, I was suffering from womanly weakness."

I read of Cardui in an almanac, and thought I would try it. I got a bottle and it helped me from the first. After that, during the whole of my married life, I took Cardui when I needed it.

"About four years ago, change of life came on me. I grew weaker and weaker, and was confined to my bed, where I lay on my back for days. I was told that only a severe operation would do me any good, and this depressed me very much, for I dreaded such an ordeal."

"I remembered how Cardui had helped me for female trouble in the past and I had read of how it had helped other women during change of life, so one night I told my husband to go to the drug store and get me a bottle. I began taking it at once. From the first dose I could feel myself getting stronger. I continued to take Cardui until I was entirely through this very trying period of a woman's life."

Writers Base "The Wolf Man" Picture on Life Incident

Frederick and Fanny Hatton known as the most prolific writers of motion picture successes, went into the world of fact for the fiction they wrote into "The Wolf Man," the current Fox release starring John Gilbert. The picture comes to the American Theatre Wednesday for an engagement of two days.

While touring Europe Mr. and Mrs. Hatton met an Englishman who, they said, was one of the most charming persons of their acquaintance. But one night on a channel steamer, he visited the salon too often and revealed his sub-conscious self. The following day he confessed that he virtually was exiled from his home because of his dual personality.

"While the story of 'The Wolf Man' was not meant to follow the tale our dejected acquaintance told, it was based on our meeting," said Frederick Hatton. "So when we returned to this country, we went to work."

"The Wolf Man" is a gentleman when he's himself, but a beast when he becomes under the influence of drink.

MACDONALD ANXIOUS TO RE-MOVE TROOPS FROM GERMANY

LONDON, AUG. 5.—Prime Minister MacDonald answering questions in the house of commons today with regard to the inter-allied repatriation conference, declared he would not agree for a British soldier to remain in Cologne (the British bridgehead) 60 seconds longer than necessary to carry out Great Britain's obligations imposed upon her in the treaty of Versailles.

DAVIS TO SPEAK IN WEST SOON

Democratic Standard Bearer Will First Give His Views To Mid-West

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Clem L. Shaver, Chairman-designated of the Democratic National Committee, said that John W. Davis would speak in the Middle West soon after the candidates of the chief political parties had been formally notified of their nominations. This is expected to mark the opening of the campaign by Mr. Davis. The exact date has not been determined.

Mr. Shaver explained that the journey of the Democratic candidate to the middle West point would not be in the nature of tour, as to purpose of Mr. Davis was merely to make this single address. He explained also that Mr. Davis had not thought of making his mid-west speech a response to the address of President Coolidge accepting the Republican nomination for President.

"If the President touches on the matter which Mr. Davis intends to discuss," said Mr. Shaver, "it is supposed to be that Mr. Davis will make some reference to what the President has to say, but otherwise the speech will not be a reply to the president."

As to Mr. Davis's plans for an extensive campaign tour, Mr. Shaver had no information to impart.

"Would it be safe to assume that he will go as far as the Pacific Coast was asked."

"It wouldn't be safe to assume that he will go as far as the Pacific Coast," was the answer.

Mr. Shaver said he expected to make Washington his principal headquarters in the campaign, but would spend considerable time in New York and Chicago. The Southern and Western regional campaign headquarters had not been selected, he added. He will return to New York probably tomorrow, and will go to Clarksburg, W. Va., for the Davis notification ceremonies on August 14, and the meeting of the National Committee the same day to elect him as Chairman. He also will go to Lincoln, Neb., on August 18, for the notification of Governor Bryan of his nomination for vice president.

Whether Mr. Davis will make speeches in the Northwest was left uncertain by Mr. Shaver.

That's the other people's country, isn't it?" he asked, in response to a question, leaving the impression that the Democratic Party would leave it to the Republicans and La Follette to fight it out in that section.

There was nothing said directly by Mr. Shaver, however, to indicate that there would be no intensive campaign for the Democratic candidate in the Northwestern states. The understanding prevails here that plans contemplate an effort to keep Montana, at least, in the Democratic column.

What was said by Mr. Shaver to day strengthened the belief that the three chief political parties will not begin campaign activities in any intensive way until September. The program of each appears to contemplate a campaign of not more than two months. In these days campaign expenses are heavy and it is more difficult to obtain contributions than in the past.

According to political observers in Washington the operations of the special committee of the Senate appointed to investigate campaign contributions while the presidential contest is on will have a detrimental effect on the effort to raise campaign funds. It is contended that many of those who otherwise would be willing to make substantial contributions will hesitate to do so knowing that the fact that they have contributed would be brought out in the senate committee's hearings and the opportunity given to partisans to question the motives of the contributors.

It has been the understanding here that each political speech broadcast by radio throughout the country would cost about $10,000. Mr. Shaver said the cost would not be anywhere near as large as that. He added that the cost of broadcasting Mr. Davis's speech of acceptance would be borne by the people of Clarksburg and not by the national committee.

Mr. Shaver said that Mr. Davis would not make any campaign speeches in Maine prior to the state and congressional elections there in September. General Charles G. Dawes will make a campaign tour in Maine in the interest of the Republican candidates for state and congressional offices. Senator Wheeler, the LaFollette candidate for vice president, will begin his campaign speech-making at Boston late in August, but it is not known whether his New England tour contemplates addresses in Maine before the early elections in that state.

Senator LaFollette will make one of his new speeches in New York, but it is probable that he will not go into New England before the Maine elections.

Peach Crop Moving.
SALLISAW, Okla., Aug. 4.—The best and largest crop of Elberta peaches in eastern Oklahoma or anywhere in the state is moving to market.

Favorable weather conditions of the past few weeks have brought the crop to the peak of perfection and the yield from this section will exceed early season predictions by 100 cars, according to Fred Ingram, county agent.

The increase in volume is due, in the main, to the largeness of the peaches, not a greater yield, Ingram said.

OIL NEWS

W. J. Bryan and others will spud on their test in section 18-4-6 one the Clint Palmer farm. The derrick has been completed and the drillers are waiting for material.

Jacq Lloyd is laying a water line from the city lake to his well in section 6-3-7, southeast of Ada. Drilling will be resumed as soon as the water is available.

Floyd O. Howarth is underreaming at approximately 2400 feet in section 19-5-7.

The material has been bought and everything is in readiness for work to start on the plant for the pumping station of the Oklahoma Pipeline Company near Francis next week, according to reports. Part of the material has been shipped. The pipe has been laid across the Canadian river. The pumping station will be located on a 40-acre tract adjoining the city limits of Francis on the southeast. The land was purchased from Ed Gillette and Chas. Bates.

COUNTIES TO VOTE ROAD BOND ISSUES

Hard Surfaced Road Projects To Depend on Outcome Of Issue

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 5.—Two counties adjoining Oklahoma county, seat of the capital, will vote today on road bond issues, which, if carried, will mean the building of more than 150 miles of hard surfaced highways within Lincoln and Logan counties in the next year, according to E. Bee Guthrie, secretary of the state highway commission.

The roads of Logan county are important links in the north and south traffic through Oklahoma and the Lincoln county main highway connects the capital with Tulsa and the northeast section of Oklahoma.

CHANDLER, Aug. 5.—One hundred and three miles of hard surfaced highway will be constructed in Lincoln county within the next year, if the $230,000 road bond issue, submitted to the voters today, passes, according to the county engineer's office. Every town and community in the county will be connected by all-weather roads if the issue is voted, it was said. This is the second time this year the bond issue has been submitted. It was defeated by a small majority several months ago.

GUTHRIE, Aug. 5.—Another link in the hard surfaced roadways between Oklahoma City and the Kansas state line will be completed if the Logan county road bond issue of $750,000 is voted today. Two of the main highways connecting the

BUSINESS WOMEN KEEP PREFERENCES SECRET

How familiar are the business women of Ada with the political problems of the present day? Are they open and above board with their political convictions or do they follow the lead of many men and refuse to give their views on political platforms, issues and individuals?

Taking the United States senatorial race as an example, a News reporter made the rounds of the women employed in the stores of Ada later Monday. It was explained to them that the results would not be published until late Tuesday, and therefore the canvass was not being made to influence any candidacy.

A large majority refused to tell whom they were for while others ask "who is running for United States senator? A large number had not made up their minds, even at that late hour.

The result of the vote of those who were willing to tell whom they would vote for, was one vote for Scott, none for Gore or Freeling, Wrightman and Howard tying for second place with four each and Walton leading with six votes.

They did not express their opinions of Gore but it had been rumored that Freeling does not think women are intelligent enough to vote; therefore he gets none of their votes.

capital and Kansas, the Oklahoma City-Lincoln and the Wichita Short Cut roads will be paved across the county if the bonds are voted, proponents declare. State and federal highway funds will add $750,000 to the road fund, giving the county a million and one-half dollars for roads, the county engineer pointed out.

The Mystery Road

By E. Phillips Oppenheim

Chapter VIII

Myrtle rose in the morning, as was her custom, at a little after seven o'clock, carefully made her bed, dressed, and walked for an hour upon the terrace. These early diurnal wanderings were tempered with a certain sadness, although she was always finding something new—new beauties or new sores—in this amazing spot to which she had been transported. To Myrtle, whose life as yet was composed mainly of externals, everything was beautiful. The sun warmed her with the promise of love. She was never tired of watching the little waves breaking upon the sandy strip, and the million scintillating lights upon the bay. She looked up with a glad smile at the silent hotel where Gerald was sleeping. Perhaps he was dreaming of her at that very moment. Love had crept into her life and found her very ignorant. As yet it was a beautiful and simple thing. That it was capable of change and division never even occurred to her. She loved Gerald and, although he sometimes disappointed her, it must be that Gerald loved her. She had few doubts about it all. His attitude often puzzled, sometimes even distressed her, but she put his vagaries down to her own lack of understanding. She was convinced that all would be well when she saw more of him, and she harbored a dull sense of resentment against Christopher, who she believed was always working for some unknown reason to keep them apart.

At half-past eight she returned to her rooms and deliberately attacked a great mass of sewing, which was sent to her daily from the hotel, and the payment for which, by arrangement, provided her with board and lodging. From that time onwards, she sat in the window with but one hope—the hope of seeing Gerald. Once or twice he had come and taken her out to luncheon, but Christopher was unfailing in his visits. He presented himself every morning at about the same time, and even if Gerald appeared, he always accompanied him. Despite her resentment against him, it was always a pleasure to hear his firm tread and to watch his tall, broad-shouldered figure and good-humored, intelligent face as he crossed the road. She found an evil counselor in Annette, the maid at the hotel, who occupied the other bedroom in the little cottage and generally looked in for a few minutes on her way to work. Annette, who was thoroughly French, was completely puzzled by the situation. She could account for it in her own mind only from the fact that the two young men were English and therefore presumably mad.

"But how mademoiselle is industrious!" she exclaimed, looking in at the door soon after Myrtle had returned and settled down to her sewing. "I hope my stingy old aunt pays you well for all that sewing."

"She gives me my board and lodging here," Myrtle replied, with a smile. "That more than contents me."

"Board and lodging! Oh, la, la!"

WEWOKA WILL VOTE

ON CITY'S CHARTER
WEWOKA.—The city charter has been drafted and will be voted on soon.

In a year the population has increased from 1,200 to 5,000, and other things have grown correspondingly.

The taxable valuation before has reached a peak of $750,000 but this year the county assessor said it would pass the $1,000,000 mark.

Contracts to pave eight more blocks of streets have been let by the board of trustees. This will

Annette declared, sinking into her accustomed chair. "That would not content me. It is the tips from which one can buy one's clothes. It amazes me that mademoiselle does not ask Milord Dombey for some evening frocks and attend one of his supper parties. Charles, the head waiter, brings me news often of them. They are of the most amusing. There are artists there, and all manner of wonderful people. Has mademoiselle no curiosity to see life?"

Myrtle threaded a needle carefully before she replied.

"Milord Dombey," she said, "would I believe, take me, but Monsieur Christopher does not think it well that I go to those parties. He declares that they are for people whom I should not meet."

Annette clasped her hands behind the back of her head. She was vastly amused.

"Oh, la, la!" she exclaimed. "That is so like Monsieur Bent! What does he make of life, that young man? Does he think it well for a girl as beautiful as mademoiselle to sit here alone at night and creep into bed, while monsieur who adores her spends his time with other women? Poo! Mademoiselle should have courage."

Myrtle laid down her work. Her heart was beating fast.

"Tell me, Annette," she begged, "who are these guests of Milord Dombey? Why do they keep me away from them?"

"It is not Milord Dombey's fault," Annette declared. "He is a beau garçon, that. It is the stupid Monsieur Bent, who should have stayed at home in his dull London. They are all well enough, these guests of Milord Dombey's. Some sing at the opera; others, perhaps, have seen life in Paris, but for that what are they the worse—what harm can they do? Oh, if I were mademoiselle, I should submit no longer!"

"What should you do, Annette?" Myrtle asked, half-fearfully.

"I should put on all my prettiest clothes," Annette replied, entering into the matter with animation. "and I should come to the hotel. I should find my way to Milord Dombey—that would be for me to arrange—and I should just tell him that I had come. That I was tired of being left at home. Then I would whisper one or two of the nicest little things I could think of into his ear, and I would put my arms around his neck, and—well—I know Milord Dombey—he would not send me away—not if I were mademoiselle."

The work had fallen from Myrtle's hands. She was sitting up in her chair, her eyes very bright, her lips a little parted. How fortunate it was that Annette had come! Without a doubt, she would do this. Only one must beware of Monsieur Christopher. He was full of droll ideas. He must be made to understand. Presently Annette departed, and when, a little later on, Christopher arrived to pay his morning call, Myrtle was seated as usual at her work, her manner unaltered except that she was a little gayer than usual, perhaps a little more kindly.

"Myrtle," he announced, "I have heard from my cousin in England. She thinks that she will be able to find you a place in about a month's time."

"That is very kind of her," Myrtle answered, without enthusiasm. "What does Gerald say about it?"

"I have not mentioned it to Gerald yet," Christopher replied. "He was dining out last night and had a supper party afterward at the Carlton, and as a matter of fact he was fast asleep when I came out. I have no doubt, however, that he will be glad."

The girl made a little grimace.

"He may not be so glad to get rid of me as you," she remarked.

"We shall neither of us be here in a month's time," Christopher reminded her. "Certainly I shall not, and Gerald, I believe, is due to go to Biarritz before then."

Myrtle sewed industriously for a moment.

"Perhaps," she suggested, "he may want me to go to Biarritz with him."

"You must not talk like that, Myrtle," Christopher said sternly. "You must not say such things. If Gerald goes, it will be with some other young men to play polo. There would be no possible place for you in such a company."

She smiled without looking up. Some day he would know the truth, this kindly but rather foolish Englishman. He would know that she and Gerald loved one another. He should always be their friend, though. He was very good, in his way, only he would not understand.

"What about a short walk before lunch?" he suggested.

Myrtle dropped her work at once.

"We will go along the terrace," she proposed, "and while I sit upon a seat, you shall go in and wake up that lazy Gerald. You shall tell him that I am waiting, and I am sure that he will hurry out."

Christopher assented, a little sadly. Once or twice before they had carried out the same program, and he was wondering whether it would not have been better to have told Myrtle the truth—that on two occasions Gerald had absolutely refused to join them, and that on the third he had been brought out almost by force. There was a little pang in his heart as he watched Myrtle's gay preparations. Life was so wonderful to her that it seemed a shame to destroy a single illusion.

"We'll try and rout him out, at all events," he promised.

Chapter IX

Gerald found Pauline waiting for him at the accustomed spot, after luncheon that afternoon. She was in the shadow of a great magnolia shrub, dressed in inconspicuous gray, with a veil thicker than the exigencies of motoring necessitated.

Pauline stepped lightly into the place by his side, without waiting for him to vacate his seat.

"Turn round, please," she directed. "We will go the other way. I do not choose to pass through the town."

Gerald obeyed, although her request only added fuel to the smoldering fire of his resentment. He turned away towards the mountain road and maintained a silence which was not without its significance. His companion, after a few minutes, glanced toward him indifferently. He was leaning back in his place, his eyes, as usual, fixed upon the road, his left hand firmly grasping the steering wheel. The humorous twitch, however, had gone from his mouth. There was a distinct frown upon his forehead.

"You are perhaps weary today?" she suggested. "You should like to shorten our drive?"

Gerald turned and looked at her. "I am not weary," he replied. "I am puzzled. I hate mysteries."

"The old complaint," she yawned.

"With a new reading," he retorted.

"I have shown myself ready, as you must know," he went on, "to study your rather peculiar whims in every way, but when it comes to meeting you face to face at the club and receiving nothing but the stoniest of stares, I must admit that the situation grows beyond me. I am not well. I am not a disreputable acquaintance, am I?"

She laughed quietly.

"Not in the least. You belong to what they call in England the middle-class aristocracy, do you not—two or three centuries old, with a damp house in a park and an armful of undistinguished titles?"

"Are you afraid to present me to Madame de Poniere?" he asked, after a moment's pause.

"Terrified," she admitted frankly.

"Because my quarters are insufficient? I might remark that my father is the ninth earl and that I am his only son."

"It is not that at all," she assured him indifferently. "There is really no reason why we should not meet in a place like this on equal terms, but my aunt is a woman with only one idea in her head, and for the successful development of that idea it is advisable that we make no acquaintances whatever here. There, my Lord Dombey, have I not been kind to you? I would see more of you if I could, because in a place like this the escort of a man is an advantage. As it is, I can assure you that I risk a good deal in taking these afternoon rides. If you know how wearisome my life was and how grateful I really am to you for these few hours of escape, you would feel more kindly toward me. See, I give you my hand. Let us be friends."

It was the first time during all their acquaintance that she had accorded him the slightest mark of favor. The touch of her fingers thrilled and surprised him. He held her hand unresistingly for several moments. Then she drew it quietly but firmly away.

"Well, that is settled," she said. "Now talk to me about other things. Is there no news at the rooms? Has no one been breaking the bank?"

"There was something I was going to tell you," Gerald replied, with a sudden flash of recollection. "I am next to a man at dinner last night in the grill, who they say broke the bank several times during the afternoon. I believe they said that he was a Russian. I suppose you know all about him, however."

"I?" she exclaimed. "Why should I?"

"Because, between the courses of his dinner, he wrote a letter and sent it off by messenger. He was at the next table and it was impossible for me to avoid seeing the envelope. It was addressed to Madame de Poniere."

She looked at him, amazed.

"To my aunt?" she repeated. "But we received no letter from any one last night. What was this man like?"

"They said that he was a Russian and that his name was Zubin," Gerald replied. "They also said that he had won two million francs in the afternoon."

"Zubin!" she exclaimed, with a little start. "Describe him at once, if you please."

"That is easy," Gerald acquiesced. "He must have been at least six foot three or four, and he had tremendous shoulders. He was one of the most powerful-looking men I have ever seen in my life. He had a sallow complexion, a lined face, black eyes and a mass of black and gray hair."

She put her hand upon his.

"Stop the car, please," she begged. "Turn round as quickly as you can. I must go home."

Gerald ran on to an adjacent widening of the road, reversed the car, and headed back for Monte Carlo.

"If I had known that my news was going to shorten our drive," he grumbled, "I shouldn't have mentioned the fellow at all."

"My friend," she said earnestly, "what you have told me may be of immense benefit to me to know."

"You recognize the man, then?"

"He is probably my aunt's steward," she confessed, after a moment's hesitation. "There, you see I am telling you secrets. Do you know whether he played last night?"

"I was only at the club," Gerald replied. "He did not come there. Is there anything I can do? Would you like me to go and look for him?"

"Yes, you might do that," she said thoughtfully. "When you have dropped me, drive down to the rooms. If you find him there, touch him on the shoulder. Say that Madame de Poniere awaits him. You will not forget this?"

Gerald found Pauline waiting for him at the accustomed spot, after luncheon that afternoon. She was in make a total of forty blocks paved in twelve months.

Bank clearings for the last quarter have more than trebled those of the same period a year ago. Outstanding loans have decreased in the last three months more than 15 per cent.

"I'll drive there at once," Gerald promised.

He set Pauline down, as usual, at the gates of her villa. She scarcely stayed to say goodby, but her smile was more gracious and her manner a little kinder. It was obvious, however, that she was disturbed by his information. Gerald, incurious though he was at most times, felt a growing interest in his mission.

Arrived at the rooms, he walked straight through to the Cercle Prive, visited each roulette and trente et quarante table, and strolled round the baccarat room. Seated next to the croupier, at the most remote table, with a little crowd of people behind his chair, and with a great pile of notes before him, sat Monsieur Zubin.

The Russian was betting in maximums, apparently on some system, and with varying success. To all appearances, he had not changed his clothes, bathed or shaved since the evening before. There was an untidy growth of beard upon his chin, a bloodshot streak in his eyes; his collar and tie were crumpled; his hair, over-luxuriant at the best of times, was unkempt and disordered. Gerald leaned towards the attendant seated behind the croupier's chair, under pretense of handing him a small stake.

"Monsieur gambles?" Gerald remarked, with an inclination of his head toward the man who was the center of interest.

The attendant turned around with an expressive little nod.

"Yesterday he broke the bank," he whispered. "Today he can do nothing right."

"He is losing, then?"

The man's grimace was significant. Gerald watched his own stake swept away and crossed to a place behind the Russian's chair. In one of the intervals, he leaned over and touched him on the shoulder. The man took no notice. Gerald whispered in his ear.

"Madame de Poniere awaits you at the villa."

Zubin for a moment remained perfectly still. When at last he turned around, his face was ghastly. With his strong arm, he pushed back some one who intervened.

"Who are you?" he demanded.

"I am merely a messenger," Gerald replied. "I know no more than that I was asked to give you that word if I saw you at the casino."

The Russian rose slowly to his feet, left one of the plaques to guard his place, thrust a great pile of notes into his pocket, and led Gerald into a corner.

"You have been spying on me. It is through you that Madame knows I am in Monte Carlo."

"On the contrary," Gerald reminded him, "you yourself wrote a note to her and dispatched it by messenger from Croix."

RUPTURE SHIELD EXPERT HERE

MEINHARDT, WELL KNOWN IN THIS SPECIALTY, CALLED TO ADA.

E. J. Meinhardt, the well known Expert from Chicago, will personally be at the Harris Hotel, Ada, Okla., on Wednesday only, August 6th.

Mr. Meinhardt says "The Vacuum Rupture Shield" will not only hold the Rupture perfectly, but will contract the opening in ten days on the average case—usually giving instantaneous relief withstanding all strain regardless of the size and location of the Rupture. This instrument is highly indorsed for producing results in the United States and foreign countries without the use of surgery, medical treatment, prescriptions or injections.

Caution: Ruptured persons should beware of old-style trusses with under-traps. These trusses usually place the pad on the lump and not on the rupture opening. This often causes serious trouble resulting in strangulation and necessitating a surgical operation. Mr. Meinhardt will be glad to demonstrate free to all who call at the hotel from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., the unusually rapid results produced by "The Vacuum Shield." The largest and most difficult cases are especially desired.

Only gentlemen are invited to call on the above date as a special visit will be made here at a later date for women and children.

Notice: Do not write asking to be fitted by mail as this is impossible. Every case must be seen personally. If interested, you must call at this hotel on the above date. Business demands prevent stopping at any other place in this section.—Adv.

Berlin Owners Begin to Mend Their War Neglected Houses

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN, July 17.—Scars of the 1918 revolution and other reminders of the war and its aftermath, reflected in neglected public buildings as well as private dwellings and apartment houses in Berlin, are to be blotted out this summer.

Throughout Berlin thousands of workmen have begun the task of repairing buildings which have been neglected eight or ten years, and which have suffered visibly from the effects of the weather. The work has been taken up particularly in the presidential sections where a great many landlords for years have made no endeavor to keep up the appearances of their property because of the lack of income from their holdings.

But since the mark has been stabilized apartment houses have taken a new lease on life and started the long-delayed improvements, the law having been adjusted so that now house owners have an income from their real estate nearly equalling that prior to 1914.

BETTER OUTLOOK FOR FARMERS

Larger Yields and Better Prices Will Work Great Change in State

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 5.—Crop yields and conditions undoubtedly will restore the morale of Oklahoma farmers and eliminate some of the economic distress of the past four years, John A. Whitehurst, president of the state board of agriculture, predicts in a statement issued today.

"Possibly the state never has had a broader outlook for a big crop than it has this year, which will tend to revive the purchasing and debt-paying power of the farmer, and give a general hopeful tone to all Oklahoma business," Whitehurst said.

"We have harvested a wheat crop this year of some 11,000,000 to 17,000,000 bushels more than we did last year, which is bringing on the market some 25 cents to 35 cents a bushel more than it did last year," he declared.

The farmer seldom has seen his wheat advance in price at threshing time, the board president pointed out.

The corn yield will exceed 75,000,000 bushels if weather conditions continue favorable, he said. This would virtually be twice as large as the crop last year.

Continuing, Whitehurst declared:

"While the corn crop received a poor start, occasioned by cold weather, it has made up for the backward spring in the past 40 days, until the outlook for the state is very encouraging for a large crop of corn. Oklahoma possibly will never grow crops as large as it did in 1906 to 1910, before the introduction of kafir corns and the grain sorghums in the west side of the state, where the corn acreage at the present time has decreased virtually one-half."

"Possibly the cotton never has looked better than it does this year," the statement added, predicting the yield would exceed 1,000,000 bales, and might go as high as 1,250,000 bales.

"The stand is remarkably good all over the state, and so far, the boll weevil has not been alarming," Whitehurst said.

The price of cotton-growing farms will increase this fall, the agricultural head believes, providing the crop brings to price it now is predicted it will command.

"It is not impossible to see Texas and Oklahoma producing one-half of the cotton in the United States within the next ten years, because of the climatic conditions affecting the boll weevil," Whitehurst declared.

Commenting on other farming conditions, he said:

"The oat crop while so large as it has been in the past on account of reduced acreage, has proven profitable and helpful to the farmer this year. The price has advanced since harvest."

"While Oklahoma produces more broom corn than the rest of the United States combined, it is especially favored this year with one of the best crops in many years. The new crop of corn is selling on the market from $125 to $175 per ton. It is not improbable that Oklahoma will produce 35,000 tons of broom corn this year."

"The livestock industry possibly has suffered in the past four years a greater set-back than any allied agricultural industry. There is no doubt but that an economic change is taking place in the cattle industry, and Oklahoma, like Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa, soon will find out that it is not a stocker state, but that it is necessary for them to feed their young cattle to procure a profit. We are especially blessed with an abundance of cotton seed meal and cheap roughage."

"The fruit crop is large and of remarkable quality."

"Reports coming in indicate that peanuts, cow peas, tame hay and sudan all are in fine condition and a big crop may be expected."

"Hog production possibly is the most discouraging element that confronts the farmer at this time. Now that the price is high, the farmer finds himself very short of stock hogs, many of them having been sacrificed at a ridiculously low price, on account of the scarcity and high price of feed. It is estimated that the pig crop for this spring is not over 55 to 60 per cent of normal. Doubtless the fall crop will be considerably larger."

Whitehurst expects an increased volume of farm land transfers this year and predicts that many of the farms which have been idle for several years will again have tenants. Farm indebtedness will be reduced materially this fall, he believes.

Roads and Trails in Alaska Require Heavy Expenditures

(By the Associated Press)

JUNEAU, Alaska.—More than $10,000,000 will be required by the Alaska Road and Trail Commission for roads and trails in the territory, with an annual maintenance charge of $750,000 after they are completed according to Col. James G. Steess, president of the commission.

The commission has jurisdiction over 9,626 1-4 miles of thoroughfares. The first division includes 80 miles of wagon road and a half a mile of trail. There are 204 miles of highway in the second division, 3,045 1-2 miles of trails, 27 miles of bobsled road and 87 miles of tramway. The third division has 448 miles of wagon road, 1,488 1-2 miles of trails and 177 1-2 miles of bobsled road. The fourth division has 628 miles of wagon road, 2,592 miles of trails, 824 miles for sledging and 13 miles of tramway.

War Ended in 1815 Costs $12,000 Yearly in Pensions

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Thirty-three widows of soldiers who fought in the War of 1812 are still on the pension rolls of the government, although 109 years have elapsed since the close of that conflict in 1815. Eight of the women pensioners died during the year ended June 30. There have been no names of soldiers of the War of 1812 on the pension books since 1905, when Hiram Cronk died in Ava, N. Y., at the age of 105.

The oldest of the 33 widows receiving pensions, which average $20 a month, or about $12,000 a year, is Mahala Huff, Rural Route No. 2, Louisa, Ky., who is 105 years old. Her husband was a private in a Virginia company of militiamen. All told approximately 25,000 widows of veterans of the War of 1812 were granted service pensions, the high water mark being reached in 1879 when there were 18,177 on the rolls.

The records of the Pension Bureau also show that Daniel F. Bakeman, who died at Freedom, N. Y., in 1869 at the age of 109, was the last soldier pensioner of the Revolutionary War, and Esther S. Damon, widow of Noah Damon, who died at Plymouth Union, Vt., in 1906 at the age of 96, the last name to be scratched from the Revolutionary pension lists.

The final report of the bureau when it closed for the night gave the following standings:

Robertson 191,663, Ferguson 144,148, Lynch Davidson 138,118, Whit Davidson 122,323, Barton 29,222, Burkett 21,417, Collins, 24,772, Dixon 4,220, Pope 17,069.

STANDARD QUILTS OIL HUNT IN PHILIPPINES

(By the Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—In the recently abandoned quest for oil on the Bondee peninsula of the island of Luzon in the Philippines the Standard Oil Company of California spent approximately $1,250,000 five years of continuous and futile effort and provided an arduous and hazardous job for the party of prospectors, it was explained in a statement issued at the company's main offices here.

"The effort in the Philippines," said the report, "has been watched with great interest by the United States government, numerous branches of which realized the vast importance of an American oil supply on the other side of the Pacific Ocean."

"The failure to find oil at Bondee does not prove that there is no oil in the islands. It means that there is none in the area prospectively. There is oil to the north, in Japan, and to the south, in Borneo, and it may yet be found in the Philippines group, where there has been only one real drilling campaign, the one just finished."

"The Philippines expedition," the statement pointed out, "furnishes a striking example of the hazards of the oil industry. The search for hidden deposits of petroleum is uncertain—the industry seeks and sometimes finds and sometimes doesn't. In either case the expense is great, requiring resources of vast size. There is compensation, however, for where many wildcat ventures may fail, one may succeed with profitable results. Such is the history of oil."

"Having heard reports of favorable surface conditions on the Bondee peninsula, the company initiated its own geological survey in 1919. In December, 1920, an expedition sailed from San Francisco for Manila. Everything necessary to life and work had to be shipped from California. The field of operations was in a wild, scarcely inhabited region of southern Luzon, well away from civilization, a tropical land of great heat and torrential rain, an area of typhoons, of feticid humanity and lurking disease, of snakes, alligators, deer and wild pigs."

"The deepest of the several holes drilled went to a depth of 5,120 feet. Floods and other climatic extremes frequently interfered with the work."

SOCIALISTS WILL HOLD DEMONSTRATION SEPT. 12

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Joseph D. Cannon, labor organizer and former Socialist candidate for Governor of New York took charge yesterday at 7, East Fifteenth street of the Socialist party campaign in New York City. His first act was to issue a statement condemning Mobilization Day activity.

"Socialists will not be content with a mere gesture of opposition to militarism," he said. "Simply to oppose Mobilization Day by word of mouth is too easy a test of opposition of war. This is shown by the ease with which our war mongers of 1917 have joined the popular outcry against the proposed demonstration."

"Weeks before Governor Bryan inadvertently made Mobilization Day an issue the La Follette convention in Cleveland denounced the idea by unanimous vote. A few days before Bryan's statement drew attention to the danger of the proposed military demonstration, before John W. Davis realized that popular feeling was dead against the proposed display, the New York Socialists in convention in this city denounced the entire affair."

"As we have always done, not only in the comparative safety of peace, but also in the war days when passions ran high, the Socialists will make the date of this proposed demonstration for war the occasion of a counter demonstration for peace. We will call on all peace loving Americans to refuse to practice the 'goose step' and to turn their attention to the problems of attaining world peace."

More than 100 peace meetings as an offset to "war meetings" will be held by the Socialists in New York City, according to Mr. Cannon, and these will be held in all five boroughs. All candidates appearing on the Socialist ticket will address the various meetings, which will be held outdoors, if possible. Because of the National Guard demonstration on Fifth Avenue the Socialists will not attempt a parade.

Abraham Turvin, special national financial assistant for the La Follette campaign, said yesterday that following the conference of representatives of 300,000 needle trade workers pledging aid to the La Follette campaign fund it was now proposed to appeal directly to 750,000 trade unionists in the metropolitan and outlying districts for contributions of $1 each. By this method he said he expected to raise $1,000,000.

When Ministers Crawled In Hunt For Lost Pearls

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS.—The Thiers pearls which sold recently for more than $600,000 were unable to find a taker for nothing during the agonizing days of the German march on Paris.

When the French general staff asked the government to get out of Paris so the army would have a free hand in the operations around the capital, it was decided that the Bank of France would move to Bordeaux also. At the last minute someone thought of the crown jewels in the Louvre museum. The director of the museum bought a common leather satchel into which he hastily stuffed the precious stones that formerly adorned the kings of France along with the Thiers pearls, without even stopping to make a list of the gems.

The satchel was handed over to Monsieur Dalmier, Under Secretary of State for Fine Arts, who carried it to Bordeaux. As soon as he arrived in the temporary capital he tried to get rid of the trust. Monsieur Ribot, Minister of Finance refused to accept it; Monsieur Robineau, Governor of the Bank of France declined to take the deposit. After an unofficial council of ministers it was decided that the Bank of France be asked to take charge of the jewels after inventory. Monsieur Robineau finally consented and three ministers set about to aid him make an inventory in the chamber of a Bordeaux hotel.

During the process the string that held the Thiers pearls together gave way, creating consternation among the eminent officials and bringing them all to their knees in a frantic hunt for the scattered gems.

Hours were spent in the hunt and when no more pearls were to be found a certain amount of uneasiness still remained because no one, in the absence of any inventory or record from the Louvre, knew just how many pearls there were in the string. Monsieur Robineau receipted for 145 and everybody was relieved when word was received from the Louvre that 145 was the correct number.

Farmers' Column

By Byron Norrell

STILLWATER, Okla., — Eighty-two eggs in as many consecutive days is the record made by a white leghorn hen entered in the white egg-laying contest at the Oklahoma A. and M. college. This is a record unsurpassed in Oklahoma, so far as records here show.

The hen No. 281 in the contest is owned by two students at the college, Frank Davis, McAlester and B. D. McWhorton, Blair.

When she made her record and rested one day, the champion hen, known only by her number, took up her work again and has laid an egg a day for the past 27 days, making her total 109 eggs in 110 days, said R. B. Thompson, head of the college poultry department, in charge of the show.

No other of the more than 400 hens entered in the contest from more than a dozen states has made a record to compare with that of the champion, Thompson said.

The white leghorn hens, however, have each produced more than 300 eggs in the 243 days of the contest has been under way, eight months. They are hens of pens Nos. 12 and 13, owned respectively by T. A. Layton of Kingfisher and the Fortuna Poultry farm of Boerne, Texas.

At the close of the eight-month period, 37 hens had a production mark of 170 or more eggs each, and 133 hens had produced 145 or more eggs each, Thompson said.

Several months in advance, entries already are being received for the second all-year contest. More than one-half are from outside Oklahoma, says Thompson.

Freshen Cows in Fall

The farmer can increase his returns materially from cream produced by breeding his cows to calve in the fall.

In addition to the increased income realized by fall calving due to the selling price of butter fat, there are other factors in favor of this practice. Fall-born calves are easier to raise because there are fewer flies and bacteria which cause digestive disturbances. The fall calf is cheaper to raise because it is fed milk, grain, and hay during the winter months, and by spring is old enough to get a considerable amount of its feed requirements from pastures; while spring-born calves must be fed milk and grain during summer, then grain, hay and silage the following winter, thus making the spring-born calf cost considerably more at one year of age than one born in the fall. Furthermore, the farmer has more time to devote to the care of the calves in fall and winter than in the spring and summer season when crops require most of his attention. This same thing applies to mature cows in that they are giving their greatest flow during the slack winter months and are dry or nearly so during the dry, hot, busy season.

The cow that freshens in the fall is fed dry feeds during her heaviest production and when the product sells at the highest price, and therefore yields a greater return on the feed consumed. This production comes at a period of the year when it is easier to deliver cream of good quality because of cool weather conditions and absence of flies and dust. On the other hand, the cow that calves in the spring produces her heaviest yield during the busy summer season when hot weather and flies make it difficult to deliver a high quality product to the creamery and when the price is lowest. The spring-freshened cow does not improve in her milk flow during the fall and winter months, but usually goes down in milk during the hot summer months, thus making it difficult for her to return a profit on dry feeds. She will also be dry in late winter months and must be fed on dry feeds when she is not returning an income.

When spring comes new pastures help boost the milk flow of the cow which freshens in the fall, and thus she will finish her lactation period with high production. In spring the price begins to fall off, but the cow is producing at a cheaper rate because she is on pasture. She is then dry during the hot season, when butter fat sells at the lowest price and when farmers are busy with their field crops. —Kansas Bulletin.

"BORROWED HUSBANDS"

"Borrowed Husbands" which will be shown at the McSwain theatre on Wednesday is adapted from Mildred E. Barbour's popular series of stories dealing with the adventures of a young wife who borrowed the husbands of her friends as escorts. Florence Vidor is cast as the wife whose adventures furnish material for an intensely interesting photoplay. Robert Gordon has the role of her real husband while Rockcliffe Fellows and Earle Williams interpret the characters who are entangled in the net. The picture was directed by David Smith and the screen version prepared by C. Graham Baker.

LONDON. — Among the many events in which King George and Queen Mary have participated during this busy season, that at Westminster Hall adjoining the House of Commons recently was probably the most interesting to them. Here they met, informally, virtually all of the leading members of the Dominion Parliaments who are visiting the mother country.

The gathering was the first meeting between the king and his empire legislators. There were no formal speeches, just a homely chat between king and empire rulers.

The king and queen were received at the entrance by the Lord Chancellor, the speaker of the House of Commons, Labor Cabinet members and other high officials, after which they were presented individually to the various overseas representatives.

THRONE OF MAYA KINGS DISCOVERED

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. — Discovery of the reputed throne of the emperors and priests of Chichen Itza, civil and religious center of the Maya, an aboriginal civilization that extended through Yucatan and Guatemala, and the unearthing of another court where the god of chance reigned, has just been reported by the staff of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, engaged in excavating ruins in that region.

Tlachtili was the name they called the game akin to modern basketball and which they played in the century before Christ.

Dr. Sylvanus G. Morley, Associated in Middle American Archaeology, with Dr. Earl H. Morris is engaged in the institution's program for excavation of the ancient Maya metropolises.

The Tlachtili court was composed of two high parallel walls, from 50 to 100 feet apart. A stone ring, parallel to the wall and at right angles to the floor, jutted out, near the top of either wall. Through this ring the contending sportsmen sought to put a rubber ball by bouncing it from either wrist, elbow or hip.

In the heat of the sport, the ancient gamblers were wont to wager their liberty, accepting slavery if they lost, says Dr. Morley's account. The ownership of vast estates hung on the outcome of the games. Quills filled with gold dust or trinkets of intrinsic value were the more common bets.

The ancient throne, recently brought to light, is likewise described by Dr. Morley's account. It is thirteen feet wide, seven feet deep and three feet high, elaborately and beautifully sculptured, he says. "Its sloping sides are carved with a procession of gorgeously costumed warriors, weaving in and out among whom are long, sinuous rattlesnakes," Dr. Morley reports. "This panel is topped with a cornice composed of other intertwining rattlesnakes. The throne is painted in deep red, warm yellow, brilliant blue and vivid green, and when approached from the front, between the outer pair of sculptured columns, which are similarly painted, it must have presented a striking picture of barbaric splendor.

"The floors were of hard lime plaster, painted a rich red, and around the back and side walls runs a deep broad bench with sloping back, where priests sat in solemn deliberation, and, with the Itzan rulers seated upon the rattlesnake throne, settled the affairs of state," Doctor Morley points out.

During July, the excavators discovered a small temple buried just southwest of the throne room colonnade. A plain throne, surrounded by flanking benches similar to the rattlesnake throne, was found in the temple.

MANY STRICKEN FROM CARTER COUNTY ROLLS

ARDMORE, Aug. 4. — District court room was crowded this morning by a large gathering of negroes in response to summonses issued by Arch Clark, county registrar who desires them to show cause why their names should not be stricken from the registration rolls of the county.

The county registrar stated that approximately 750 summonses had been issued and an effort will be made to dispose of them today. Kirby Fitzpatrick, chairman of the Democratic county central committee acted as advisor for the county registrar while defendants were represented by several firms of attorneys.

No Double Cross.

In opening the session the county chairman stated it was not the desire of the Democratic party of the county to double-cross any of the electors who had registered, and had lived in good faith in the past, or who would be willing to support the tenets of the Democratic party in the future, but an effort was going to be put forth to keep all out of the party who did not rightfully belong there.

Up to the noon hour a large number of the cases had been disposed of and the county registrar hopes to have the whole affair satisfactorily settled before night.

White Side-Steppers.

Asked what steps would be taken relative to white Republicans who have registered as Democrats with the intention of entering the primary election, Mr. Clark stated that no complaints had been filed, or summonses issued so far as he knew but if such summonses were issued the same rule would apply to them as applied to the colored citizens of the county.

Negro Takes Case to Court

An order was issued out of district court this morning by Judge W. F. Freeman for the issuance of a writ of certiorari upon Arch Clark, county registrar, citing him to produce all records in the case of Will Tolles vs. Arch Clark, wherein plaintiff seeks to have his name restored to the registration rolls of the county.

Tolles was one of the negroes summoned by the county registrar to show cause why his name should not be stricken.

Tolles stated to the registrar that he had lived in Ardmore for nine years, had only voted once and that vote for a Democratic nominee for chief of police, and that he had always been a Democrat and intended to support the ticket. Notwithstanding his statement his name was ordered stricken, the petition alleges.

The case is set for hearing at 3:00 o'clock this afternoon.

NEW RULES FOR COTTON DEMANDED

Federal Trade Commission Recommends Changed Policy For Cotton Trading

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5. — The federal trade commission, in a report made public Monday on the cotton trade in response to senate resolutions, recommended that some form of southern delivery on New York contracts be adopted, that cotton contracts be confined to three grades that consideration be given to a reduction in the size of the contract delivery of 100 bales, and that cotton puts and calls be abolished by a prohibitive tax.

The commission contended that the three-continguous-grade contract should not be adopted unless southern delivery were also adopted. The report declared such a contract would prove a valuable adjunct of southern deliveries by offsetting in part the decrease of the contract arising from the additional option given to the seller of contracts as to place of delivery.

To Counteract Depression

It would further counteract the depressing effect on future prices of deliveries of varying grades on each contract, which tends to be emphasized by the number of delivery points, the report held. This form of contract also would make it more practicable for the smaller merchants to take delivery of cotton on future contracts, thus reducing the tendency to run from delivery notices, the report added.

Another valuable feature of the three-continguous-grade contract, the report said, would be the increased serviceability of the future market for hedging by improving through the increased merchantability of the delivery the relationship of spots and futures.

New Delivery Points Chosen

The commission recommended that only a few southern delivery points be selected and that they be confined to the Atlantic and Gulf ports, that the delivery, inspection and cer-tification of cotton at southern ports be under rigid government supervision and that deliveries be only from warehouses licensed under the federal warehouse act, and that the tender of cotton on futures at New York be no longer permitted.

A reduction in the size of the delivery would render the contract more merchantable and at the same time would permit closer hedging, the report said. The commission pointed out that cotton puts and calls are prohibited by the rules of both cotton exchanges, those at New Orleans and New York, and should be eliminated by a prohibitive tax, like that now in force for grain puts and calls.

Basis for Spot Quotations

To establish accurate spot quotations, the commission recommended that uniform procedure be adopted for determining quotations and differences; that all pertinent price information be reported for every spot sale and be the basis for spot quotations and that this information be verified by a committee of competent classifiers, preferably not engaged in the trade, in view of the disparity in volume of sales among the several markets, the feasibility of taking a weighted average of their differences instead of a simple average for use in the settlement of a future contract.

The commission advised against abolishing the New York futures market on the grounds that New York has important advantages over any other city and is the financial and trading center of the world.

Irish Physicians Complain of Poor Pay in Free State

(By the Associated Press)

DUBLIN. — The Irish Medical Association at its annual meeting passed a resolution expressing the hope that no change would be made in the system of medical registration in the Free State which would interfere with the right of medical men qualified in Ireland to practice in Great Britain and its dominions.

Dr. W. O'Sullivan, the president, said that since the establishment of their own government the Medical Association was not holding its own. The dispensary doctors were treating over 2,000,000 people in the Free State under the Medical Charities Acts and received about $80,000 for their public health work. No other country in the world, he said, paid so little. In all the circumstances, he added, "It was not to be wondered at that the people of the country were physically a third rate population when they should be an easy first. This condition, it was to be feared, would continue until they became as degenerate physically as the pigmy races of Central Africa."

Heflin is Winner in Three-cornered Race for Superintendency of County Schools, Beating Floyd

Up to 2 o'clock this afternoon most of the voting precincts of the county had sent in their boxes but in some cases the election officials had through mistake locked up the set of returns that should have been kept out for the county election board and these figures were not available today.

The figures given below do not include returns from Sunshine, Picket or Lawrence. The county ticket of Maxwell is not given as the election officials neglected to save a copy. State returns from Capitol Hill, Francis, Fitzhugh and East Roff could not be secured.

The News will try to furnish everything complete in Thursday's paper. Some of the figures given below were phoned to the News office or brought in by some one coming to town, hence there may be a few discrepancies, but not enough to affect the results.

For U. S. senator Walton is far in the lead his total being 2,865. His opponents lag along behind as follows: Howard 1,350; Gore 529; Wrightsman 453; Freeling 144.

For congress the race was very close between McKeown and Hendon. Neither Cheatham or Pratt did more than ripple the surface. McKeown's total was 2,677 as compared with 2,566 for Hendon, 51 for Cheatham and 71 for Pratt. It is not thought that the other boxes will change these figures much. However, as McKeown has swept most of the other counties of the district by a heavy margin, his nomination is assured.

For justice of the supreme court, Wimbish was apparently safe in the county by a small margin, his vote totaling 1,820 to 1,603 for Clark, 762 for Cook and 266 for Hall.

For representative the figures were: Strickland, 2,409; Thompson, 1,615 and Brydla 670.

Dean received 3,344 and Chaney 2,386 in the county attorney's race. Walker was winner for sheriff with 3,696 to 2,380 for Lillard.

Franklin for court clerk received 3,142 to 2,665 for Denton.

Peck won for county clerk by 3,170 to 2,699 for Erwin.

Chamberlain won for county treasurer by 3,397 against 2,386 for Westbrook.

Byrd received 3,012 for tax assessor to 2,895 for Heard.

Heflin was the winner of the three-cornered race for county superintendent, receiving 2,867. Floyd received 2,050 and Mrs. Britt 937.

For county weigher Owens received 2,358, Neal 411 and Ward, 1,935.

For commissioner first district Stephens received 1,091, and Brumley 822.

In the second district Jones had 1,028 and Laseman 995. Some votes are still out but Laseman this afternoon conceded his defeat.

In the third district there were some six or seven candidates. Murphy was the winner with 563. Montgomery came next with 282. Pace 280 and Brents 157. The others were scattering.

ADA VOTE FOR JUSTICE OF PEACE AND CONSTABLE

In the general rush of listing the large offices today the offices of justice of the peace and constable of Ada were somewhat neglected. However, from the eight boxes out of nine indications point to the nomination of Judge H. J. Brown by a safe plurality and Joseph Anderson by a vote slightly smaller. However, W. H. Fisher ran a strong race and the other box may change the result.

DISTRICT RACES NEARING FINISH

Early Returns Give Wimbish Lead in Supreme Court Race

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 6.—John T. Johnston, chief justice of supreme court, was trailing far behind Fletcher Riley of Lawton, county attorney of Comanche county in the race for the democratic nomination for the justice of the supreme court, ninth district, according to returns from 119 precincts out of 200 tabulated at 11 a. m. today. The vote was Riley 5596; Johnston 3441; O. F. Renegar, Cordell, 3569; Renegar is the Farm-Labor Progressive League endorsee.

Sixty-six precincts out of 356 in the first district gave Charles W. Mason, incumbent, 2532 votes in the democratic supreme court race. His opponent, Judge A. C. Brewster, Pryor, 1018; J. S. Davenport, Vinita 943; J. T. Johnson, Sallisaw 681.

Thirty-five precincts in the first gave Republican candidates the following: Seaton 350; B. L. Keenan, Tahlequah, 336; E. L. Kirby of Wagoner 295.

T. H. Dubois of Tahlequah, Republican, was unopposed in the second supreme court district.

Thirty-seven precincts out of 436 in the third district gave J. I. Phelps, El Reno, 707 votes in the democratic race. His opponent, C. Smith, polled 536 votes. Both are district judges.

J. W. Bird of Enid led the Republican field in the first district with 909 votes from 36 precincts of the 436 in the district. J. W. Schofield of Oklahoma City, received 715 and E. D. Oldfield, Oklahoma City, 563.

In the sixth district Chief Justice Neil C. McNeill of Pawnee was trailing Albert C. Hunt of Tulsa in the Democratic race. The votes: Hunt 3592, McNeill 3491. Ninety-eight of the 383 precincts had reported.

The Republican race in the sixth upon returns from 86 precincts: G. O. Grant, Tulsa, 2682; M. C. Spalding, Tulsa, 2237; E. L. Taylor, Tulsa, 180.

In the eighth district the Democratic vote of 46 precincts out of 307 gave Robert Wimbish, Ada, 1402; J. W. Clark, Atoka, 1124; I. L. Cook, Atoka, 852.

Eighty-seven precincts out of 321 in the second district in the Democratic race gave E. Lester, Wilburton, 1146; W. N. Redwine, McAlester, 4122.

Six of 300 precincts in the ninth supreme court district for the Republican nomination gave: W. C. Roe, Frederick, 80; Joseph H. Line, Lawton, 78.

FLIERS TO STAY IN ICELAND FOR BETTER WEATHER

Uncertain Weather Conditions Force U. S. Fliers to Postpone Trip

NO LANDING PLACE

Preparations Made to Make Minor Repairs on Planes Before Flight

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Arrangements were completed today by the army air service to send an airplane from Langley Field, Virginia, to Pictou Harbor, Nova Scotia, to be used by Lieutenant Leigh Vado from that place over the remaining route of the world flight in company with the two other fliers.

REYKJAVIK, Aug. 6.—Lieutenants Lowell H. Smith and Eric Neilson, the United States army world aviators, expect to remain here several days following their stormy trip from Horn Hornafjord on the eastern Iceland coast yesterday. The fliers said they would start today on their Greenland flight except for the uncertainty of the situation at Angnagsalik where the ice condition is the worst in years.

The airmen do not like the prospect of a 480 mile flight over open water with no certainty of a proper landing place. The reports from Angnagsalik are conflicting, there being no assurance as yet that the supply steamer Gertrude Rask, reported yesterday caught in the ice fifteen miles off shore, had been able to deliver her supplies for the airmen's next stop.

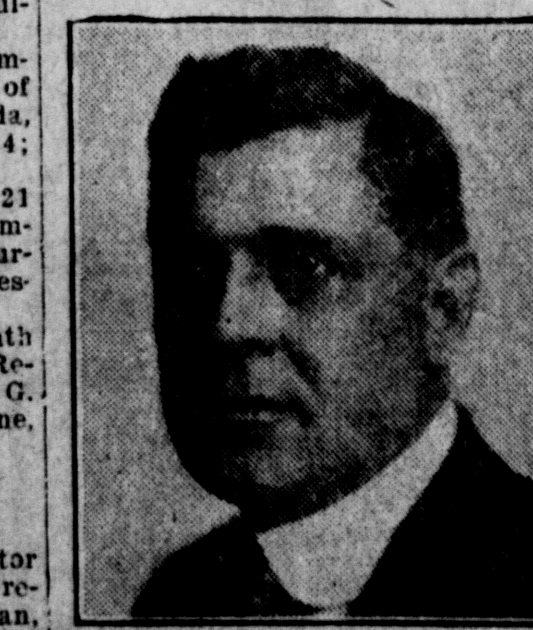

Major Clarence Crumline of the United States air service, who was awaiting the fliers here when they arrived, is canvassing the situation, but is uncertain as yet when it will be feasible to continue the flight.

To Make Repairs.
Preparations were made today to pull the planes ashore for minor repairs. This work will require less than a day's time. The machines came through their battle with the high wind on their flight here from Hornafjord in good shape yesterday despite the fact that the gale at times was so furious that it carried away part of the radio antennae of the cruiser Richmond, flagship of the patrol fleet. At one point the planes were forced to proceed sideways, the engines working at an 80-mile an hour rate but making scarcely any progress.

When the Chicago and New Orleans arrived at Reykjavik they found the harbor crowded with ships. It had been planned on this account for them to land outside the seawall but this was impractical because of the rough water. The pilots were equal to the emergency, however, and made a beautiful landing in the limited space in which they had to work inside the harbor.

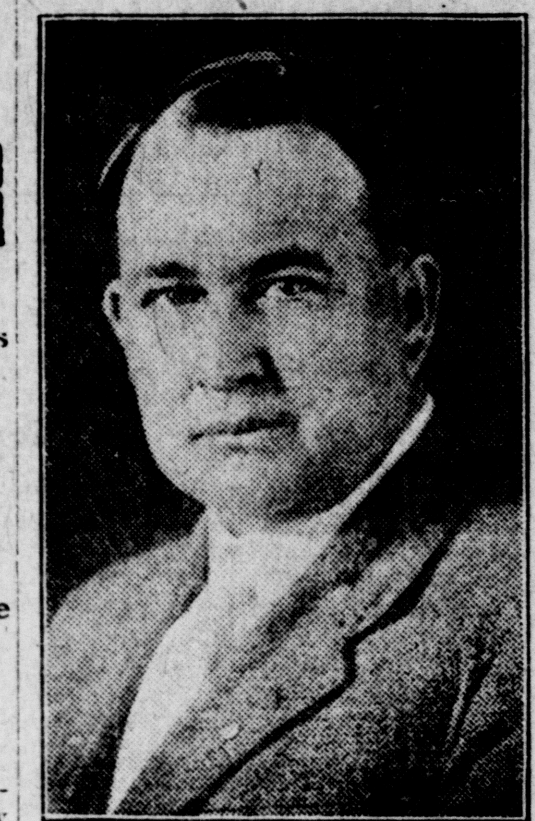

VIENNA.—Notwithstanding the loss of men during the World War, post-war Austria is not much different in the proportion of its male and female population. Recent figures show that for every 1,000 men in Austria there are 1,078 women, while in 1910 there were 1,023 women to each 1,000 men.

NEW YORKER IS CALLED TO STAND

Testimony in Franks Murder Case Continues Before Chicago Judge

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Doctor Bernard Gruck of New York testified at the Franks hearing this morning that Richard Loeb at his mental examination of him had admitted that he had used the cold chisel which killed Robert Franks.

Throughout the investigation of the connection of Loeb and Nathan F. Leopold Jr. with the murder, the matter of who actually struck the fatal blow had been the unsolved mystery. Both youths, by confessing to the kidnapping and slaying, accused the other.

Two defense alienists previously on the stand had failed, they testified, to ask the boys as to which had struck the fatal blow and the state had been unable to bring out the point.

Loeb remained impassive when Doctor Gruck testified that he had admitted striking the blow. Leopold leaned forward, a grimace on his face, smiled slowly, and talked with his counsel.

The statement that Loeb actually had struck the fatal blow was brought out under questioning by Benjamin Bachrach of defense counsel.

"Did Loeb say who struck the blow," asked Bachrach.

"He told me throughout all details that he, Loeb, struck the blow," replied Doctor Gruck.

Judge Caverly and the attorneys remained impassive as had Loeb when the testimony was offered, Judge Caverly leaning calmly on his hand, elbow on the arm of his chair.

Pauls Holding His Lead in Race for Office in Kansas

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 6.—Lieutenant Governor Ben S. Pauls continued to maintain his lead and to gain slowly over his opponents in the Republican race for the gubernatorial nomination yesterday's Kansas primary as addition precinct reports came in early this afternoon. When 911 complete unofficial precincts had been heard from Reed had jumped into second place, with Stubbs running third. The figures: Pauls 27,417; Reed 21,064; Stubbs 19,279.

In the democratic race for the nomination for governor, Gov. Jonathan M. Davis continued his walk-away from Harry S. Burton former mayor of Kansas City.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 6.—Returns from 1757 precincts out of 3927 in Missouri's primary election yesterday showed Sam A. Baker, former state superintendent of public schools, leading his nearest opponent by 16,365 votes in the Republican race for governor.

Pine Breaks Away From Lorton and Scott to Cinch His Nomination for Senate on Republican Ticket

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 6.—Votes from Western Oklahoma began early this afternoon to cut away the lead of E. B. Howard over J. C. Walton for the Democratic nomination for the senate.

At one p. m. 1397 precincts out of the 2996 in the state gave: Howard 43,651; Walton 41,655.

On the basis of the same number of precincts Charles J. Wrightsman had 28,263; former senator T. P. Gore 24,765; and S. P. Freeling, former state attorney general, 7,648.

At the same hour 623 precincts gave for the Republican senatorial nomination: Pine 17,850; Lorton 9,577; Scott 4,877; Leedy 564; Liever 527; and Bingham 501.

On the basis of returns from virtually half of the precincts it seemed that Howard carried thirty-five counties, being second choice in eleven. Walton carried seventeen counties and was runnerup in thirty-six. Wrightsman and Gore are believed to have carried nine counties each.

Howard carried his home county, Tulsa, by 4000, the statement being based on incomplete returns. The deposed governor led the ticket in Oklahoma county and Oklahoma City. His plurality in the county will exceed 1000 it is believed. Walton's home precinct went against him, Howard polling almost twice as many votes as the former governor, returns show.

None of the five candidates would comment on the race today, declaring more complete returns would be necessary before an opinion could be voiced.

Sir Walter Scott Votes

ARDMORE—"Your name please," interrogated the election clerk at precinct 11 in this city this morning when a voter approached and asked for a ballot.

"Sir Walter Scott," he replied.

"Hugh?" exclaimed the wielder of the pen as it poised over the familiar dotted line.

"Sir Walter Scott, an' ah wants to vote," he exclaimed as preliminaries were resumed.

"Sir Walter" is an elongated son of ham who has been wielding the broom and dust pan as janitor at Ardmore for several months and this is his first attempt to exercise the right of suffrage guaranteed to every person of legal voting age.

"Sir Walter" registered and cast his ballot in the primary election.

Wimbish Believes Remaining Votes Will Elect Him

Robert Wimbish, candidate for justice of the supreme court, is in doubt about the outcome of his race, but believes that he has won. He carried Pontotoc county by a few votes, according to the returns now available, and expects to carry Pottawatomie, Coal, Johnson and Marshall. He lost Atoka and has not heard from Hughes. If he gets the vote that he was expecting in the counties not yet reported, he believes he will win.

One precinct, the only one reported, in Shawnee gave Wimbish 59, Cook 48, Clark 44 and Hall 32.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 6.—E. B. Howard has increased his lead over J. C. Walton in the Democratic race for the United States senatorial nomination to 4,367 upon returns from 1079 precincts.

The vote now stands: Howard 42,495; Walton 38,128; Wrightsman 26,544; Gore 23,042; Freeling 7,195.

Returns from 545 precincts in the Republican contest gave Pine 16,524; Lorton 8710; Scott 4292; Leedy 487; Lieber 431; Bingham 415.

Returns from 216 precincts out of 450 in the first congressional district for the Democratic nomination for congressman showed a gain for Harry Halley. Klan endorsed candidate, over Wayne Bayless, who led from the start. Halley had 4310 votes; Bayless 5872; Markham 742; Strain 1963; Landrum 1269; Bidston 2881. The situation was unchanged in other congressional districts.

Democratic corporation commissioner race—466 precincts out of 2396 in Oklahoma for the Democratic nomination for corporation commissioner gave Hickman 1033, West 193 Tharp 1330, Capshaw 12,884, Jordan 1943, Peytonton 233, Merritt 200, Long 1103, Cobb 1203, Brewer 5896, Pimm 645, Boyle 1009, Gilkerson 1763.

EDWARDS CONTINUES LEAD CRIMINAL COURT JUDGE RACE

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 6.—District Judge Thomas A. Edwards of Cordell continued to pull away from Smith C. Matson, incumbent, and Judge Clyde G. Pitman of Shawnee, for the democratic nomination for judge of the criminal court of appeals, southern district. There was no contest for the Republican nomination.

ADA INDEPENDENTS BEAT CAPITAL NINE

Delayed Game Copped by Ada
in Tenth Inning Rally.

Playing to emptied stands, Ada and Oklahoma City battled for ten innings before the locals could send over the winning run to break the deadlock on eight score. The game had previously been called off when the Oklahoma City club failed to appear at the park.

Rushed back into uniform by the belated arrival of the Oklahoma City Club, Ada Independents settled down after the first inning of the game and called it their own in the tenth when Ben Rutledge singled, scoring L. Wanner, who had walked and ending the game a score of 9 to 3. A large aggregation of fans assembled at the park early in the afternoon to spend the Fourth shouting at umpires and the like but they grew restless after 4 o'clock when the Oklahoma City nine failed to arrive. The gate receipts were re-distributed to patrons and the game called off. Just as the players were returning to town, the Oklahoma City team arrived and the game was again pronounced but to a few interested fans.

Oklahoma City took an early lead by staging two runs in the second and six in the fourth innings their only scores of the game. The comeback of the Ada club started in the fourth inning when they made four runs. Four other runs were made in the sixth, seventh and eighth innings and the final tally was 60-10 in the tenth.

Kelley performed on the mound for the entire ten innings for Oklahoma City while Formby relieved Davis for Ada.

L. Wanner and Lee divided the hitting honors for Ada with three hits each. Rutledge also mauled out a three-sacker and a single.

IRELAND WOULD REGAIN ITS EXPORT EGG TRADE

DUBLIN. — Patrick Hogan, the Free State minister for lands and agriculture, has introduced into the Dail a bill to regulate the export of eggs. Eggs are one of the most important of Irish exports, and the industry has recently shown signs of deterioration. In 1921 Ireland exported $50,000,000 worth of eggs, poultry, and feathers, the value of the export being second to that of cattle.

For the year ended March 30, 1924, the Free State export of eggs was only about $17,000,000. Part of the diminution is attributed to a fall in prices and the expansion of opportunity for continental competitors since the war. Before the war the Irish export was more than 50 percent greater than the Danish. Now it is less.

Under Mr. Hogan's bill all eggs for export must be collected in premises registered by the ministry of agriculture, tested and graded under official supervision and packed in standard boxes. It is hoped by abolishing defective packing and grading to double the Irish egg export.

LEARNED MEN BECOME WILD WHEN STARVED FOR OXYGEN

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON—Oxygen starvation produces some extraordinary effects on men ascending high mountains. Professor Barcroft at the Royal Institution recently told his hearers that during one of his ascents, after a height of 16,000 feet had been reached, he noticed one of the party behaving wildly.

At another altitude a highly respectable don indulged in lurid language and there was the case on record of a man suffering from oxygen starvation who had written down his sensations, and as the starvation became acute started getting his spelling fuddled.

It was characteristic of this starvation that, though the victim would know what to do, as for instance that by moving 20 yards he would get out of danger, he would not do so unless definitely instructed by someone else.

LONDON—A frank statement that financial demands upon parliamentary candidates and members of Parliament were becoming too heavy was made by former Premier Stanley Baldwin in a recent address in which he declared that he had expended more than $15,000 in elections during the last three years.

"Many men are poorer since the war," Mr. Baldwin said. "I myself am one of them. Too many demands for money should not be made upon members of Parliament and candidates."

LASEMAN'S STATEMENT

Ada, Oklahoma, July 2nd, 1924.
To the Voters of Commissioner's District No. 2:

I am a candidate for re-election to the office of County Commissioner for District No. 2, subject to the Democratic Primary to be held August 5th, 1924. I have just completed one year of my first term in the office. It will, therefore, be of interest to the voters to know what I have accomplished during that time and the circumstances under which the work was done.

When I took charge of the office, I did so with practically no tools, road machinery or equipment. The estimate for the fiscal year was not completed until about September 1st, 1923, which in a measure, prevented any effective work until that date. About 125 bridges and culverts were out.

I have built, rebuilt and repaired about 200 bridges and culverts during my first year in the office. I have graded about 25 miles of roads that had never been graded before. I now have a fairly complete set of tools and road machinery with which to carry on the work in this district. I have accomplished these results without exceeding the estimate provided for these purposes by the Excise Board of Pontotoc county. No funding bonds have been issued during my term of office. I have tried to manage the affairs of District No. 2 as much as possible, by letting the local people select their own overseers and giving preference to local people by letting them do the work of the District as much as possible.

If re-elected, I shall continue to carry out the same policies. I shall at all times stay within the estimate. No funding bonds will be issued during my term of office if I can prevent it.

I am basing my right to re-election solely upon my own merits and upon my own record. I shall be pleased to have the voters come to the office of the county clerk and check my record at any and all times. I am not the candidate of any group, clique or faction, and have not the endorsement of any such group or faction. Neither do I want such endorsement. I want the endorsement of all the people and am doing my level best to avoid lining up one group of persons against another group. In that way, my hands will not be tied but I will be free to serve all the people without fear or favor.

On account of the limited time before the primary, I shall not have the opportunity to see all the voters. For that reason, I am taking this means of acquainting the voters with my record in the past and my plans for the future.

Thanking the voters for past favors, and trusting that I may in their judgment, merit re-election, I am

Very respectfully,
C. J. (CHAS.) LASEMAN.

Prohibition in Saskatchewan
To Be Decided by Plebiscites

REGINA, Sask., June 27 — The sale of students of prohibition throughout the world are turning on Saskatchewan to see whether this province will follow Quebec, Alberta, Manitoba and British Columbia in turning to government sale as the best method of dealing with liquor. The question will be before the voters in a provincial plebiscite July 16.

The province of Saskatchewan has been dry since 1916. A plebiscite in 1920 continued the dry regime by a vote of 86,949 to 55,259. Last year a petition for sale of liquor under provincial control was denied by the Saskatchewan government. When the province was made dry and when it was kept so, women voted, as they will in July.

Quebec has never been dry, but adopted government sale to meet criticisms of the liquor traffic. Alberta, Manitoba and British Columbia adopted government dispensaries after trying "bone-dry" prohibition.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

BETTER IS A DRY MORSEL, AND QUIETNESS THERE—WITH THAN A HOUSE FULL OF SACRIFICES WITH STRIFE.—Proverbs 17:1.

LEST WE FORGET.

It is said that Mr. John W. Davis is to lay great stress in his speech of acceptance upon honesty in government. He certainly would have excuse or provocation for so doing in the recent attitude of too many Republicans. Mr. Butler, the Chairman of the National Republican Committee, led all the rest in callous indifference about Teapot Dome. All that he no longer heard any talk about Teapot Dome. All the agitation on that subject, he added, had turned out to be merely "ephemeral." Apparently he thinks that the people have forgotten all about it and have ceased to care.

There will be reminders enough for Chairman Butler before the campaign is over. The fact will be recited. The hateful inference will be drawn. It would no doubt be exceedingly pleasant for the Republican management to pass an obliterating sponge over the mood of despondency in which the party leaders found themselves last January and February. What then came out had an effect which was described only last month by a prominent English journalist writing on American politics. He said that at the time referred to the common opinion was that the Republican Party had been "destroyed." No one in control of it could stand up against the sickening mass of revelations touching upon actual and attempting corruption. But has the mere lapse of time blotted all this out? Because Democrats have blundered are Republican criminals to be held acquitted? We should despair of democracy and of our country if we thought that such things as Mr. Butler lightly pushes aside as "ephemeral" did not in fact stay bitten into the memory of the people, and remain a powerful motive of political action.

What we have to recall and reiterate is not simply an isolated act of bribery; not alone a separate betrayal of trust; nor solely the smirching of one individual reputation or another. The deplorable and damning thing, the thing that clings and stings, is the corrupt atmosphere that surrounded the Republican Administration for so many months. Chairman Butler may forget, but the rest of us will not, the invasion of Washington by a whole band of political harpies and vultures. An astonishing number of them descended upon the capital from Ohio. But they winged their way also from many States to what they scented as the carcass in Washington. What a set they were—these men unblushingly "on the make," out of their political influence or position! Some of them wanted office, all of them wanted money. And they went after it, whether by devious ways or straight, in the spirit of pirates falling upon their prey. The total impression was of a sort never to be forgotten or condoned. In this case the whole was greater than the sum of all its parts. Certain charges may not have been true, a few figures skulking away from the light of investigation may not have been so corrupt as they seemed, but there could be no mistaking the net and undeniable result. That most insidious danger to the Republic had been disclosed before the eyes of all the people—the danger that official action and the course of the Government might be swayed by corrupt and mercenary motives.

It is not honestly to be maintained that a sharp line of moral division can be drawn between Republicans and Democrats in this sad business. It is not a case of all the angels on one side and nothing but demons on the other. Yet the chief taint and the heaviest reproach fell upon the Republicans. What are they going to ask the nation to do about it? Are they to pursue a course of avoidance and silence? If so, there can be no doubt what sort of punishment they will deserve, whether they receive it or not. The one frank and honorable policy for them to adopt is plain. They can join all honest men in disavowing and denouncing those Republicans who were responsible for bringing this stain upon our Government, can pledge themselves to omit no means of pursuit and penalty, and can promise in a humble and repentant spirit to clean the national offices that have been defiled. But if they seek slyly to ignore the whole disgrace in the hope that the public will mostly have forgotten it by November, then it will be a patriotic duty to prevent the people from forgetting, and to throw the charges, which six months ago made every American blush with shame, into the face of defiant Republicans from every stump and from every newspaper.—New York Times.

Elbertas are ripening. Watermelons are on the market. Cantaloupes are at their best. What's going to keep an ordinary mortal from eating too much?

The voters have spoken. It is now up to the party leaders to get behind the candidates and put them over. Past differences should be forgotten in order to present a solid front to the opposition.

Maine Governor Sentences Dog Pal to Prison for Life

Governor Percival Baxter of Maine, who won national attention by ordering the flag on the statehouse lowered to half mast when his dog died, has sentenced his latest canine pal to prison for life. He sent the dog to the state penitentiary as a four-footed missionary, believing that it will bring happiness to men behind the walls. The dog is shown with the prison chaplain.

The Foreign Press

(Tulsa Tribune)
He became a town character in Grand Rapids, Mich., and won his nickname, "Home Made," because for years he lived up to his boast that he could make every article he needed except food. As for food, he could have grown enough to keep alive. The telegraph wires neglected to say why he failed to garden. Maybe because he was so busy making things he needed.

His name was Frank Way. He died the other day at 69. They buried him in a coffin he made a year ago when his health began to slip.

Here was a man with personality if there ever was one.

We don't know what prompted Frank Way, 23 years ago, to try to make himself entirely independent of the labor of others. Psychoanalysts probably would say he had some sort of "self-complex."

He made his own shoes, hats, trousers, shirts, even his own cigars and false teeth.

Far back in the mists of time all men did this. They had to. They observed that, for instance, one man made arrowheads faster than any one else—and was slow at killing wild game for food. Another had a knack for erecting houses. So each specialized at the thing he could do best—and, since he produced more than he could use, he bartered the products of his toil for the products of others.

This started commerce and specialization. It made life easier for all. Frank Way didn't need to prove that a man can be self-sustaining. It's been proven before, millions of times. The idea of course, fires popular imagination—this being completely independent. Witness the popularity of the exploits of Robinson Crusoe. Even he, however, had to get help—his man Friday.

There's a bit of a joke on Frank Way, after all. To be "self-sustaining" over a period of 23 years, he had to work an average of 12 hours a day. And he wasn't self-sustaining at all.

He boasted that he made his own cigars. A lot of us roll our own cigars and fill our pipes. But we don't grow the tobacco ourselves. We don't cure it, blend it, haul it to us from the source of production. Nor did Frank Way.

It was so with everything he made. Hundreds of men had each his little share of effort represented in every bit of raw material Frank Way used—for instance, the nails he drove in his home-made shoes.

There is no independence from our fellowmen as long as we live among them and want even the simplest of necessities. We are all interdependent, though usually we stupidly forget this truth and oppose each other.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS STRENGTHENED BY PILGRIMAGE

NEW YORK, August 6.—International relations are being strengthened by the visit of Americans on the Huguenot pilgrimage to Europe, according to letters and cables being received at the office of the Huguenot-Walloon-New Netherland Tercentenary Commission. Many hon- ors have been heaped upon the party which is visiting scenes connected with the early settlement of America.

"Revival of historic interest is opening new ways for international relationships," says a cable received from Dr. Adolf Keller of Switzerland, Secretary of the Central Bureau of Relief for European churches who is also the European representative of the Federal Council of Churches. He declares that the people of the mother countries of America are showing great interest in the tour.

The pilgrims, according to dispatches, were received by the League of Nations at Geneva and there was a celebration in the Cathedral by the University and the Consistory of the city. At the close of the meeting, Dr. John Baer Stoudt, director of the pilgrimage, was presented a silver replica of the medal given to the late President Wilson in 1918.

The pilgrims have taken part in a number of historic events and celebrations, but still more important affairs are ahead. Dr. Charles S. Macfarland, chairman of the executive committee of the Huguenot-Walloon-New Netherland Tercentenary Commission, celebrating the coming of the Huguenots and Walloons to America and the three-hundredth anniversary of the settlement of New York and the Middle Atlantic States region, will sail on the Homeric on August 9th to address popular tercentenary meetings in Paris and Brussels. He will also attend receptions to the pilgrims by the President of France and King Albert of Belgium. He will address a meeting at St. Quentin and dedicate a monument to Jesse de Forest at Avesnes. Jesse de Forest, of whom Robert de Forest of New York is a direct descendant, was the leader in the plan for the Walloons to settle in America. He died on a trip of exploration, but he blazed the way and the colonists came under the auspices of the Dutch West India Company.

Dr. Macfarland will also carry a substantial sum from the American churches for the relief of churches of Europe which are in distress. The gift will be made at the conference of the Central Bureau of Relief for European churches.

Quinine Water.

WYNNEWOOD, Okla.—Websters flaming water well near here has been drilled into veritable fountain of quinine. Sizzling water that comes from the bottom of the hole now about 2,484 feet deep, is quite as bitter as the well-known antidote for chills and fever. Apparently the earth that rendered the water undrinkable was found in the blue shale at the bottom.

This water was so charged with gas that it would burn.

This well is near the upper slope of the Arbuckle mountains and about 12 miles northwest of Platt National Park which contains many sulphur wells and springs.

Boils

THERE is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also stops boils! S.S.S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S.S.S. builds blood-power, it builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting-blood. Fighting-blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! Mr. V. D. Schaft, 557 15th street, Washington, D. C., writes: "I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S.S.S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S.S.S. that did it."

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

SWEDEN SEEKS TO RETAIN HER WANDERING SUBJECTS

STOCKHOLM.—It will be harder to become a citizen of Sweden, and easier to remain one after the beginning of next year, according to a new law which has just been passed.

The new citizenship regulation requires five years' residence, instead of three, for the naturalization of immigrants. According to the old law a Swedish woman lost her citizenship upon marriage to a man who was not a Swedish citizen. But under the new law such a married woman retains her national allegiance to Sweden until she becomes naturalized under the laws of some other country.

Under the old law Sweden residing abroad for a period of ten years automatically lost their citizenship, even though they had not become naturalized in the country of residence. But under the new law a Swedish citizen by birth who has been domiciled in Sweden retains his political status wherever he resides unless he should become naturalized in some other country. Persons whose Swedish citizenship has lapsed under the old law may have it renewed so as to come within the scope of the new law by a simple written application to any Swedish consulate or legation.

OKLAHOMA CITY MAYOR SAYS BROTHERS INNOCENT

OKLAHOMA CITY.—Jeff and Dan Duree, claimed to be in the federal penitentiary by miscarriage of justice, found a fresh champion Tuesday in Mayor Cargill.

"They are innocent," said Cargill. "Just as innocent of robbing that train as I am."

The Durees were found guilty of alleged part in the 1921 Edmond train robbery and were sentenced to 25 years each in Leavenworth.

U. S. Marshal McDonald a few weeks ago made a startling announcement that fresh developments in the case lead him to believe that a great wrong had been done.

"I am sure of it," said Cargill Monday. "Those boys are no doubt guilty of plenty of things, but I am certain in my own mind they were innocent of that train robbery."

Jeff Duree has sent an appeal to Cargill, including a bundle of letters throwing light on his case.

B. L. Sisinger, who as an assistant federal attorney, prosecuted the Duree boys, has also come to doubt justice of the sentence, he admitted recently.

Cargill became interested in the case when he represented one of the other men charged and won an acquittal for him.

CLOSE CONTEST FOR GOVERNOR OF MAINE

AUGUSTA, Me.—A majority of 42 votes for Frank G. Farrington, president of the state senate, over State Senator Ralph O. Brewster for the Republican nomination for governor was shown at the completion today of a recount by the governor and Council of the votes cast in the primary on June 16. The official returns had given Mr. Farrington a majority of 320. Mr. Brewster ran with Ku Klux Klan support, which he disavowed seeking.

Today's finding does not determine the nomination because of charges of illegal voting and to be considered. In a proclamation issued after the recount was ended Governor Baxter said the decision as to who was nominated depended upon the result of an investigation to be made next week of allegations that ballot boxes were stuffed in one ward—the City of Portland. This ward gave Farrington 718 votes to 153 for Brewster.

On the advice of the Supreme court that votes in towns where voting booths were not used were illegal, the governor and Council threw out the vote of the town of St. Agatha, which was 252 for Farrington and none for Brewster.

STATE FAIR OKLAHOMA INSTITUTION, IS CLAIM

OKLAHOMA CITY.—As its name indicates the Oklahoma State Fair and Exposition is a state wide institution. Although held in Oklahoma City every year in September, the Oklahoma State Fair is a state-wide institution in the broadest sense.

Oklahoma City as a city contributes very little of the real things that make a great fair. All of real things that go to compose a state fair come from Oklahoma's seventy-seven counties; the smaller cities; rural districts, and individual farms.

Every year many days before the State Fair opens, thousands of exhibits begin to pour into the fair grounds from every corner of Oklahoma. Agricultural products come from the far-off counties of the Panhandle and the extreme sections of McCurtain, Ottawa, and Harmon counties. Livestock comes from the great western ranches and the smaller stock farms of the more thickly settled sections.

Minerals and oils come from all the leading oil and mining regions of Oklahoma. The central and eastern counties send in many varieties of fruits. The women send exhibits of cooking and sewing and canning from every county in the state.

Near fair time exhibits arrive so fast and in such large numbers that express and transfer companies open branch offices at the fair grounds to accommodate the great inflow of exhibits that go to make the Oklahoma State Fair the state wide institution that it is.

TO PONTOTOC COUNTY VOTERS. I take this means of conveying my heartfelt thanks to those loyal friends who stood by me so firmly in my race for county treasurer, making possible my election. I shall endeavor to prove by faithful attention to your business that your confidence was not misplaced.

and wine from the submarine. The report coincides with recent reports from New York that mysterious submarines had been "spotted" lying in the Hudson by airplane pilots.

Federal officials here say the Government maintains a flying base at the tip of the Cape, and it is possible that planes will be used to search out the supposedly foreign submersible.

The proposition that a submarine can effectively cross the Atlantic to run foreign liquors through out blockade is substantiated by the successful trips from Germany to the United States of the freighter Deutschland and the war craft U-63 during the World war, officials say.

It also pointed out that the financial resources of rum running combinations are equal to the equipment and maintenance of freight submarines. It is known that the combinations control transatlantic steamers at an expense possibly greater than that of an underwater freighter.

The reports have created excitement in official circles here, and awakened interest in the plans the government may make to meet this new threat.

OTTO F. BRANSTETTER IS DEAD IN CHICAGO

(By the Associated Press)
—CHICAGO—Funeral services for Otto F. Branstetter, former national secretary of the socialist party, who died in a hospital last Friday, will be held tomorrow.

Seymour Stedman, Mrs. Lena Morris and W. R. Snow will conduct funeral services. There will be no religious services.

Mr. Branstetter in one of his last activities for the socialist party toured the country in 1923 with Eugene V. Debs. Last February, after he resigned as secretary of the party he suffered a broken leg in a minor accident and the injury led to complications and developments which eventually resulted in death. He was born in Kansas City, Mo., 47 years ago and his work in building up the party organization in Oklahoma brought about his election to the national secretaryship. Most of his life was spent in Kansas and Oklahoma.

Hunger and Penury Motives for Many Russian Murders

(By the Associated Press)

MOSCOW—Civil war, revolution and famine have made life cheap in Russia. Every day the papers are full of accounts of men and women who either have killed themselves or murdered others for the most trivial causes. Hunger and penury often furnish the chief motives for the constantly recurring murders. One of the most striking cases recently was that of Dousya Golovkina, a beautiful girl of 17, who killed her girl companion in order to realize $5 on the sale of her clothing. This was the second instance within a week where a woman murdered another in order to get her clothing.

Without the slightest trace of emotion or remorse, Miss Golovkina explained to the judge of the Moscow criminal court that she had borrowed $5 from a woman acquaintance to give to her lover, a youth of 19, and as she found it impossible to repay the debt, she enticed her girl companion to her home, while her parents were out.

She directed her previously to dress in her best clothes, as they were "going to a ball."

While the girls were looking at a photograph on the wall of the home, to which her host had directed her attention, Miss Golovkina crept up stealthily from behind and struck her on the head with a heavy hammer. She then dragged the lifeless body into another room, where she cut it in seven parts, burying each part separately in her yard.

Miss Golovkina took the clothing of the murdered girl to her fiancé, who sold it for $10, of which he spent five on drink, giving the balance to the woman from whom his sweetheart had borrowed the $5.

Five alienists who examined the young alienist pronounced her normal saying she was capable of realizing the responsibility for her act. The judge, on account of her youth, gave her only five years, while her fiancé was let off with a similar sentence.

Actress Claims Pastor Duped Her; Mentions Others

LOS ANGELES.—The Rev. John Betrum Clarke is painted in the lurid hues of a clerical Svengali by Mary Savage, actress. She says she was so hypnotized by his promises of success and happiness, she made with him a weird contract, in which she promised, in return for his guidance, to surrender to him her career, her profits, her wishes, and her personal services.

Clarke is held on the charge of defrauding hundreds of women. Miss Savage's fate, authorities aver, is not unlike the experiences of women throughout the United States and Canada. They say Clarke's method of attracting them was always the same. He would insert an ad; the wording of it appealed to the ambitious girl, and the disappointed woman alike. Correspondence would follow. Clarke, would, in each case, offer to bring his victim's wishes to happy realization, provided the woman, in addition to paying him whatever sums of money she had available, placed her life in his hands.

And they did. Applications show they flocked to him—for everything from a cure for corns to the name of a husband's sweetheart.

Through it all—even now—Clarke lapped at the women who believed in him so much they submitted his mind for their own. Some of his sentiments toward them expressed in his private notes, are as follows:

"Making love to women is the best way to get their money."

"Other people's money is not theirs, but mine when I need it."

EARLY ACTION TO BE TAKEN ON LAND RIGHTS

WAURIKA.—A favorable report of committee on Indian affairs in the house of representatives on the bill proposing that the government's right to the south half of Red River bordering the former reservation of the Kiowa, Comanche and affiliated tribes shall be given to the Indians, can be made early in the forthcoming session of congress, according to Elmer Thomas, congressman of Lawton, a member of the committee.

"Hearings on the bill were held," Thomas said, "and it was shown that the Indians believed when the western reservation was given to them that the boundary extended to the Texas-Oklahoma line, which was then thought to be the middle of the stream. It has been established that Indian allotments along the river have a riparian extension to the boundary decreed by the supreme court to be the line between Oklahoma and United States property."

Thomas believes that repeal of the Watson act, which authorized the secretary of the interior to recognize rights of placer mining claimants to government property in the river bed, is an impossibility, even though President Coolidge and congressional leaders demanded it. It was feared, he said, if an attempt at repeal were made some unsavory matters would be brought to light.

After conferring with departmental heads in Washington, Thomas concluded not to introduce a bill for repeal of the act by which the Enid and Anadarko Railway company was granted a right-of-way through the Chickasaw allotment between Waurika and Ardmore.

GERMAN TEXTILE
SHIPMENTS GAIN

Germany's Export Trade Now
Nearing Pre-War Basis,
Claimed

(By the Associated Press)

COLOGNE.—Textile shipments to the United States from Crefeld, the Elberfeld-Barmen district and other German manufacturing centers have returned virtually to the pre-war basis. Shipments of nearly all other commodities from Germany to America are far below normal, however, owing to the prevailing high prices practically on everything manufactured in this country.

Most of the fabrics, consisting chiefly of dress materials, silks, millinery trimmings and other articles for women's wear, are made especially for the American trade, on mail or telegraphic order, and on an average are of a higher quality than taken by any other country. Some of the textiles which have recently been contracted for prior to the occupation of the Ruhr by the French and Belgian forces in January, 1923, the delay in filling the orders being due to the fact that for many months last year the plants in the textile manufacturing areas were at a standstill as part of the German program of passive resistance.

The demand for high grade dress materials is so great in the United States, according to textile manufacturers here, that the American importers can afford to pay the increased cost which in many instances is double that of the period prior to the war.

EDUCATION WEEK TO BE OBSERVED IN FALL

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—National Education Week, Nov. 17 to 23, as designated by the Bureau of Education of the United States Department of the Interior in co-operation with the National Educational Association and the American Legion, will have a national exposition in this city.

This national exposition will be held in connection with the American Education Exposition and National Conference, which will celebrate the tercentenary of schooling in this country. The conference has opened headquarters at the Hotel Majestic, Seventy-second street and Central Park West.

The week's program includes:
Monday, Nov. 17, Constitution Day—"The Constitution: The Bulwark of Democracy and Happiness."

Tuesday, Nov. 18, Patriotism Day—"The United States Flag is the Living Symbol of the Ideals and Institutions of Our Republic."

Wednesday, Nov. 19, School and Teacher Day—"The Teacher: The Guiding Influence of Future America."

Thursday, Nov. 20, Illiteracy Day—"Informed Intelligence is the Foundation of Representative Government."

Friday, Nov. 21, Physical Education Day—"Playgrounds and Athletic Fields Mean a Strong, Healthy Nation."

Saturday, Nov. 22, Community Day—"Service to Community, State and Nation is the Duty of Every Citizen."

Sunday, Nov. 23, For God and Country Day—"Religion, Morality and Education are Necessary for Good Government."

The official program of National Education Week will be incorporated in that of the Tercentenary Education Exposition. The exposition will depict the progress made in American education, with definite and contemplated programs and desires for the future. Not only will the progress made in public schools be presented, but there will also be a special day for vocational work and physical education, music, arts and crafts, commercial and professional education, industrial education and vocation and manual training, visual instruction, public health and hygiene, home economics and domestic science and other branches of education.

PONCA CITY, Aug. 6.—Funds to be used in assisting in the capture of robbers of Kay county banks are being subscribed following a meeting of the Kay County Bankers' association, according to L. K. Meek of this city.

Robberies and the apprehension of bank robbers were the chief topics discussed by the bankers, who voted to subscribe to a fund for assisting officers in running down the robbers. The fund is $3,000 now.

Every bank in the county was represented at the meeting, and those present pledged additional funds for this purpose as needed. The bankers have been assured that insurance companies in Kay county will contribute.

A committee of five was appointed and given authority to handle the funds. It is composed of J. H. Coleman, Newkirk, president of the county association; H. J. Clark, Blackwell; L. K. Meek, Ponca City; Fred French, Tonkawa, and John Hoefler, Kaw City.

The committee plans to offer rewards for the capture of bank robbers and to assist in the prosecution of suspects by officers in connection with robberies.

Nation-wide Search Being Made

Nation-wide search is being made for 5-year-old Dorothy May Blanchard, missing from her home in Cleveland with her nurse, Mrs. Phoebe Woods. Neighbors of the nurse said she told them she would take the child away before she would give it up to its mother. The photo shows Mrs. Dorothy Blanchard and her remaining child.

Fortune Knocks
Firmly at Door of Negro Man

WASHINGTON. — "Opportunity knocks but once."

George Washington Jones, a trash collector, was almost knocked over by opportunity and then let $20,000 pass through his hands. His lifetime opportunity has come and gone.

Mrs. May J. Fiske, 81, proprietor of a rooming house, was the one who presented Jones with his chance. When he came round to her house to gather the old papers from her she gave him the papers, also an corset in which was fastened a small fortune of $20,825.

Mrs. Fiske's brother died some time ago and left $5,000. Having buried him and taken all of her life savings out of the bank, Mrs. Fiske was preparing to go to California in the near future. Meanwhile she kept her money in three small packets sewed into her corset.

During the day Mrs. Fiske wore the corset, and at night, she had a habit of wrapping it in paper and throwing it in with the old papers, so that a thief would not take it. When Jones came around she turned the papers over to him and then prepared to dress.

Not finding the corset and realizing that she must have given it to the trash man along with the papers, she called the police, and detectives were sent to investigate.

They went to the trashbox across the street, and there found the corset and money untouched.

When the detectives returned to headquarters they found three leather pouches sewed into the corset, containing the money in bills of $1,000, $500 and $100 denominations, with two $10's and a $5. One of the holders held six $1,000 bills, another held ten $1,000 bills and the third eight $500, eight $100, two $10 and one $5 bill.

San Francisco Plans TO EXTEND ITS HARBOUR

(By the Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—The water front of San Francisco will be extended 20 miles beyond its present limits for the development of a great industrial section if the United States government approves plans for dredging a deep-water ship canal south from Hunter's Point, in San Francisco, to Ravenswood in San Mateo county. The project is being pushed not only by San Francisco, but by every city and district for 50 miles down the peninsula to San Jose.

Besides dredging a channel, it is planned to reclaim 20,000 acres of tidelands for industrial sites. The land would be reclaimed through use of the dredged earth.

Government aid has been asked only for the channel. The reclamation and wharfage improvements are to be undertaken by private interests, together with the state and the counties involved. The entire project will involve many millions of dollars.

San Francisco has a water front that is owned and operated by the public. Title to the property is in the state of California and harbor affairs are administered by a board of three harbor commissioners.

The city at present has 15 miles of berthing space for vessels, with 5,000,000 square feet of cargo area. The new facilities are intended to increase the harbor space to more than double and to provide a vast number of potential factory sites.

GOVERNOR'S POLICY
REDUCES CLEMENCY

Trapp's Stringent Pardon
Record to Restore Confidence

OKLAHOMA CITY. — Governor Trapp's stringent pardon and parole policy has been for the sole aim of restoring Oklahoma's confidence in organized government, Parker LaMoore, Trapp's secretary, declares in a story in the current issue of Tidings, official publication at the McAlester penitentiary.

Pointing out that former Governor Walton was impeached on his pardon and parole record, LaMoore says that Trapp succeeded in determining to reduce clemency.

When Trapp assumed office he found not less than 100 convicts out on temporary leaves of absence, LaMoore said. Many have violated their leaves. Trapp at once issued a blanket order revoking all leaves.

Altho many deserving convicts perhaps suffered an injustice Trapp considered this the only remedy, LaMoore writes.

"It has been eight months since Trapp assumed office," says LaMoore, "it has been several months since a sensational crime has been committed by a person released from the penitentiary. Thus public confidence is being restored. A relaxation in the present policy, deemed by many to be too stern, may be anticipated if the men themselves assist in preventing return of conditions that existed in the past."

GOVERNOR TRAPP WILL BACK ALL DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES

Governor M. E. Trapp will support the Democratic ticket no matter who is nominated in the state election Tuesday.

"I am back here and ready to get into the fight for the Democratic party Wednesday no matter who is nominated," Trapp declared Tuesday.

"The people of the state are going to nominate a good man for U. S. Senator and I am going to support him," Trapp declared.

RADIO SETS

Our friends are invited to come in during the day and see the display of fine musical goods.

A little souvenir to the first who come.

If the election didn't go to suit you, don't be sour about it. We'll all go on with our several occupations, as usual. It sometimes takes a jolt to wake us. Some of the greatest achievements were born of disappointment.

VERY FIRST BOTTLE
BROUGHT HER RELIEF

Ascribing the splendid health she has enjoyed for the past six years to the help she received from Tanlac at that time, Mrs. Maggie LaFrance, 215 Archer St., Waco, Texas, says: "Tanalac made a new woman of me six years ago and since then I have appreciated good health as I never had before. I had been nervous, run down, weak and dizzy for two years. My appetite had left me, my stomach always troubled me after eating; I never slept well and had so little strength and energy that I would just drag around in looking after my household duties. I had lost weight until I was just a skeleton of myself. Tanlac was so well suited to my needs that I felt better after the first bottle. Five bottles brought me complete relief from all my troubles and increased my weight 15 pounds. I now weigh 135 pounds which is more than I ever weighed before and I have energy and strength in abundance."

"Besides doing all my own work I frequently help the neighbors with their work, too. I certainly can praise Tanlac, for I know from experience, and not from what others say, what a wonderful medicine it is."

Tanalac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold. Tanlac Vegetable Pills, for constipation, made and recommended by the manufacturers of TANLAC.
